Shipped Out

The Pass Christian Board of Aldermen last week authorized temporary harbor master Glover Hayden to file trespassing charges against boaters who are behind on their slip rental.

Pass harbor collecting on overdue rent

BY SHANNON
JENKINS
Staff Writer

With many boaters behind on their rent at the Pass Christian harbor, the city's board of aldermen has asked the harbor master to crack down on these non-payers.

According to the city's harbor customer list dated April 17, 22 out of approximately 267 renters are behind in payments. Combined, they owe nearly $5,400.

Donald Moore, a city alderman, has been in favor of weeding out the non-payers.

"We've got people on waiting lists, and some of these boaters aren't paying their rent," he said.

Patti Schruff, the harbor clerk, said the harbor master's office has made several efforts to collect money from renters who are behind in their payments.

"We've sent them letters and called them," said

Schruff, who is responsible for renting slips, collecting payments and sending out statements to renters. "Few have paid."

She said the office works with the renters as much as possible to schedule payments and get them caught up. The average rent, she said, is approximately $100 a month. The cost depends on several factors, including whether or not the boat is used for pleasure or commercial.

The majority of those behind in rent are the commercial boaters. Of the approximate 267 slips rented, Schruff said about half are used for pleasure and half for commercial. There are 329 slips in the harbor, with some that are unusable.

Schruff said most of the renters who have been

There may be a re-order in the court in store for Hancock County as early as next month.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors last week earmarked $10,000 for the creation of a new drug court division of the circuit court for the remainder of the current year; and promised up to $15,000 for the court next year.

Chancery Clerk Tim Kellar said the board approved the funding last week after requests from Assistant District Attorney Chris Schmidt and Circuit Court Judge Steve Simpson that Hancock County participate in a Coast-wide drug court effort.

Kellar said the new court would begin as "immediately, as early as next month. They're telling us it will start as soon as they get all

Bay Council wants new natural gas rate plan

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

Two important changes to the way Bay St. Louis does business were discussed at City Council meetings this week — how much natural gas customers are charged, and how citizens get variances to the zoning code.

In the gas matter, Ward 2 council member James Thriffley III suggested the city consider fluctuating its rates to ensure that periodic spikes in the cost of gas aren't absorbed by the city budget.

During the harsh winter of 2000, city officials stuck with their rate schedule while gas costs skyrocketed, costing the city several hundred thousand dollars in unanticipated expenses. Other area cities jacked up their customers' rates for gas service, but Bay St. Louis didn't.

"Once you lose those nickels and dimes, you never get them back," said

Thriffley during Tuesday's City Council meeting.

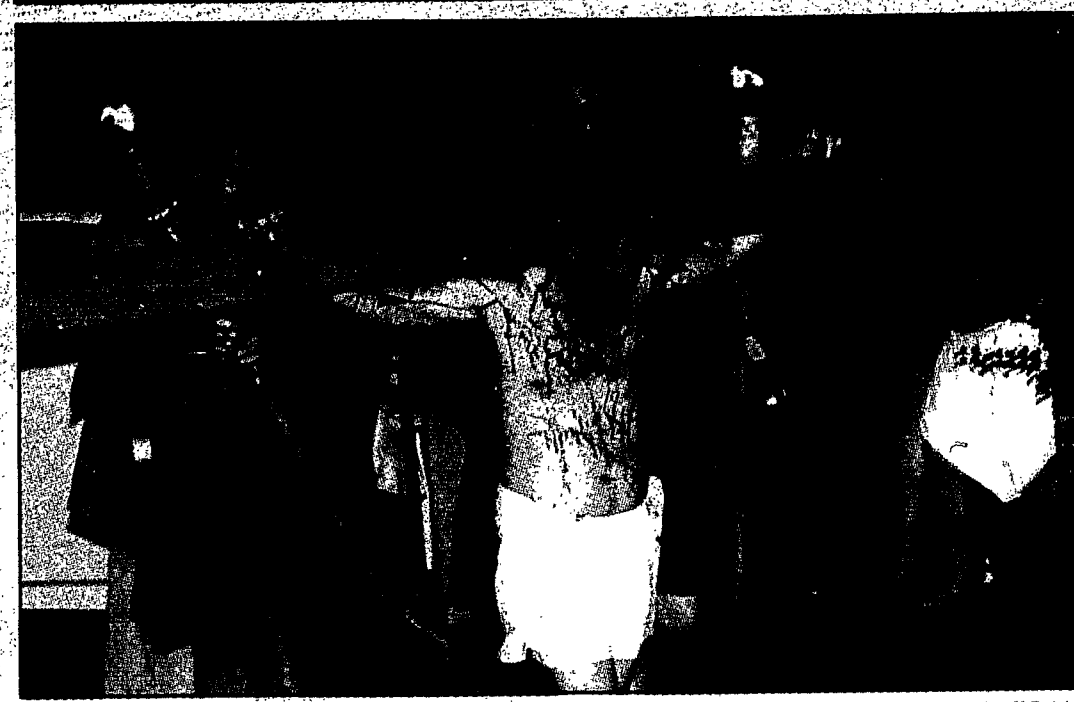

But Mayor Eddie Favre said under normal circumstances, the city's budget is set to handle seasonal costs of the gas business: in cold months, the city has to buy more than in warm ones, he noted.

While the city has a basic minimum charge of $9 for gas service, its

Pray for peace, support our troops

THE SEA COAST ECHO
St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church Peace and Justice Committee is spearheading a gathering of people on Saturday, April 26, at noon before the St. Augustine Seminary Shrine on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

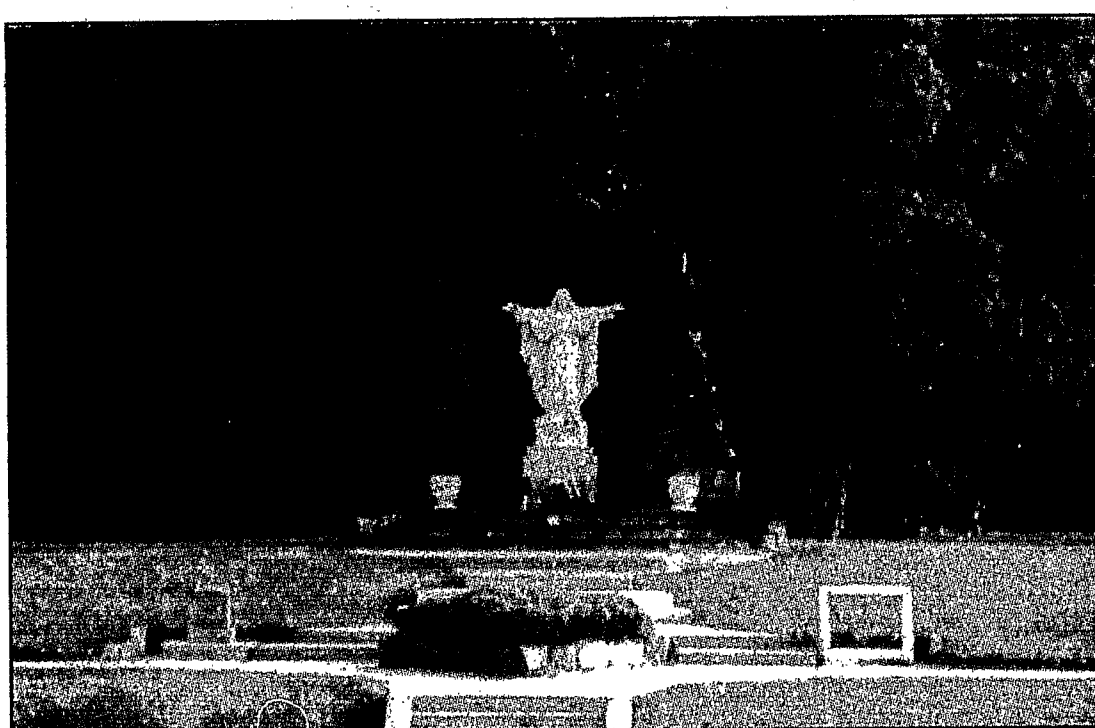

All concerned citizens on the Coast and beyond are invited to attend this gathering to pray for peace and support our troops.

Limited seating will be available and flags will be provided for the children.

Event organizers say "This is neither an anti-war nor a pro-war rally. Whether one agrees about the validity of war or not, realistically we are at war, and we have a responsibility to support our men and women who are making tremendous sacrifice on our behalf. One might ask 'how can we support our troops without supporting the war?'"

"We gather together in order to pray for their safety and safe return. The men and women out there on harms way have their families and loved ones here. This rally gives their families here an opportunity to get into a support group in this time of trouble."

The names of loved ones sent overseas will be collected in a basket and prayed for. After the rally, the names will be kept in the church and prayed for daily at the Liturgies.

"We gather together also to pray for peace," according to a press release issued by the committee, "for we know weapons will not bring in true peace. We pray for peace in the region of Middle East and we pray for the people of Iraq and innocent victims."

Burglar busted on his birthday

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

It probably wasn't a very happy birthday for a Bay St. Louis man last week when he was arrested in Waveland for an alleged burglary.

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell said that officers responding to a burglar alarm Thursday at Dr. Thomas Murphree's Dental office at 110 Auderer Blvd. spotted Adrian DeAngelo Saucier "hiding not more than five feet from the building, crouching in the mud with some felt or tarpaper on top of him, attempting to conceal himself in a large bush.

"After a brief struggle, the suspect was arrested and was taken into custody and transported to the Waveland Police Department for booking purposes."

Thursday was Saucier's 39th birthday.

Varnell said the investigation showed that an undisclosed amount of cash was stolen from Murphree's office, but was recovered at the scene.

Saucier was charged with burglary of a commercial building, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Varnell said he was placed in the Hancock County Justice Facility under a $6,000 bond. A Waveland Municipal Court hearing in the matter has been scheduled for May 1.

Officers conducting the investigation included Sgt. Brent Anderson, officers Jill Barnett, Casey Favre, Robert Gavagnie, Elfrén Acosta, Ronald Storey and Bill Roessling, and Criminal Investigator James Goss, who is in charge of the case.

Real Easter Bunnies were on hand for the children's story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. Susan Daigre even donned her own bunny ears to tell Easter stories to the children in attendance. The story hours are held every Wednesday, September through May, at 10:30 a.m. For more information, contact the library at 467-5282.

Gardens and fish to highlight library story hours this week

How Does Your Garden Grow? will be the theme for the children's story hour at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 23.

Tops and Bottoms, Brave Potatoes and Runaway Sunny are the books to be read. Susan Daigre, program coordinator, will assist the children in making a garden scene.

Under the Sea is the theme for the children's story hour at the Kiln Public Library on Thursday, April 24, at 10:30 a.m.

Commotion in the Ocean, Rainbow Fish and One Fish Two Fish Red Fish Blue Fish are the books to be read during the program. Children will see a finger-play and make a paper plate rainbow fish.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one half hour, depending upon subject matter and planned activity.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story hour information, contact Adrienne Bradley, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; or Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

I hope that everyone will have a Happy Easter today. There are several sunrise services this morning.

You may want to consider attending the Jimmy Rutherford Pier's Sunrise Service sponsored by the Hancock County Ministerial Alliance at 6 a.m. The Jimmy Rutherford Pier is a great setting for a sunrise service.

I know there are lots of folks who are traveling to visit family and friends, as well as those who are doing the same thing visiting in our area. Hopefully everyone will have a safe return home.

Today too, I think it would be appropriate for everyone to take a few moments to think of our men and women who are in harms way and away from home.

As I know from experience, being in the military and away from home is really the hardest during holiday seasons.

It had been sometime since we have had any news whatsoever on the construction of the Texas Flat Road from NASA to Highway 603/43.

Activity has once again began with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors advertising for a Public Hearing on May 6, 6:30 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center.

Already an Environmental Assessment has been approved by the Federal Highway Administration for presentation at the Public Hearing.

The Texas Flat Road project will provide for an upgrade and construction of a 13 mile two lane existing road from the junction of State Highway 607 to State Highway 603.

This will mean a better access to the Stennis Air Park from the test site in addition to a better access for workers at the Stennis Test Site.

The Public Hearing will deal with explain all the necessary procedures, plans, etc. for the project.

Talk about the Texas Flat Road project has been going on for years and years, and it is good that things are beginning to move.

As a youngster I can recall lots of activity during World War II when the area along Texas Flat was a bombing range for pilots in training at Keesler Air Force Base.

On Thursday, April 24, there will be a joint Coffee Call sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and the Diamondhead Business & Professional Association, 8 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Reservations are being taken by the chamber at 467-9048.

This will also be a regular meeting of the Diamondhead Business & Professional Association.

Guest speakers will be include. Thurman Williams, president of the Diamondhead Country Club & Property Association and Rick Southworth, General Manager. They will give and address on current and future outlooks of Diamondhead.

The Diamondhead Business & Professional Association will also hold it's April Business After Hours, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Bill Lowler's Jackie O's Cafe in the Diamondhead Shopping Center.

Sounds like it will be a busy morning and evening in Diamondhead on Thursday.

This is to give you a 'heads up' on a tremendous Support Our Troops and Pray for Peace Rally to be held Saturday, April 26, noon, at St. Augustine Seminary's Shrine of the Cross on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis.

The big rally is an ecumenical affair sponsored by St. Rose De Lima Catholic Church and will involve many churches of the community as well as Veterans organizations.

We will be giving you more information in Thursday's edition of The Echo.

P.S. Arrangements have already been made for many parking spaces.

Turning dreams into realities

With the April 15 tax deadline just behind us, millions of Americans are once again left stunned by the complexity and inconsistencies of our enigmatic tax code which itself too often stuns America's economic growth.

Particularly at a time when our economy is sagging, Congress should minimize the tax burden on taxpayers to help spur immediate economic growth and job creation. Remember, it is jobs and opportunity - not taxes and government - that turn the

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

American dream into an American reality.

Minimizing the tax burden for workers and small business to stimulate our economy is what President Bush and his supporters in Congress are trying to do. Yet, there are still those in Washington who adhere to that old, antiquated liberal school of thought called income redistribution - the impossible concept of trying to ensure an equal outcome, instead of an equal opportunity. It is a futile effort that has failed.

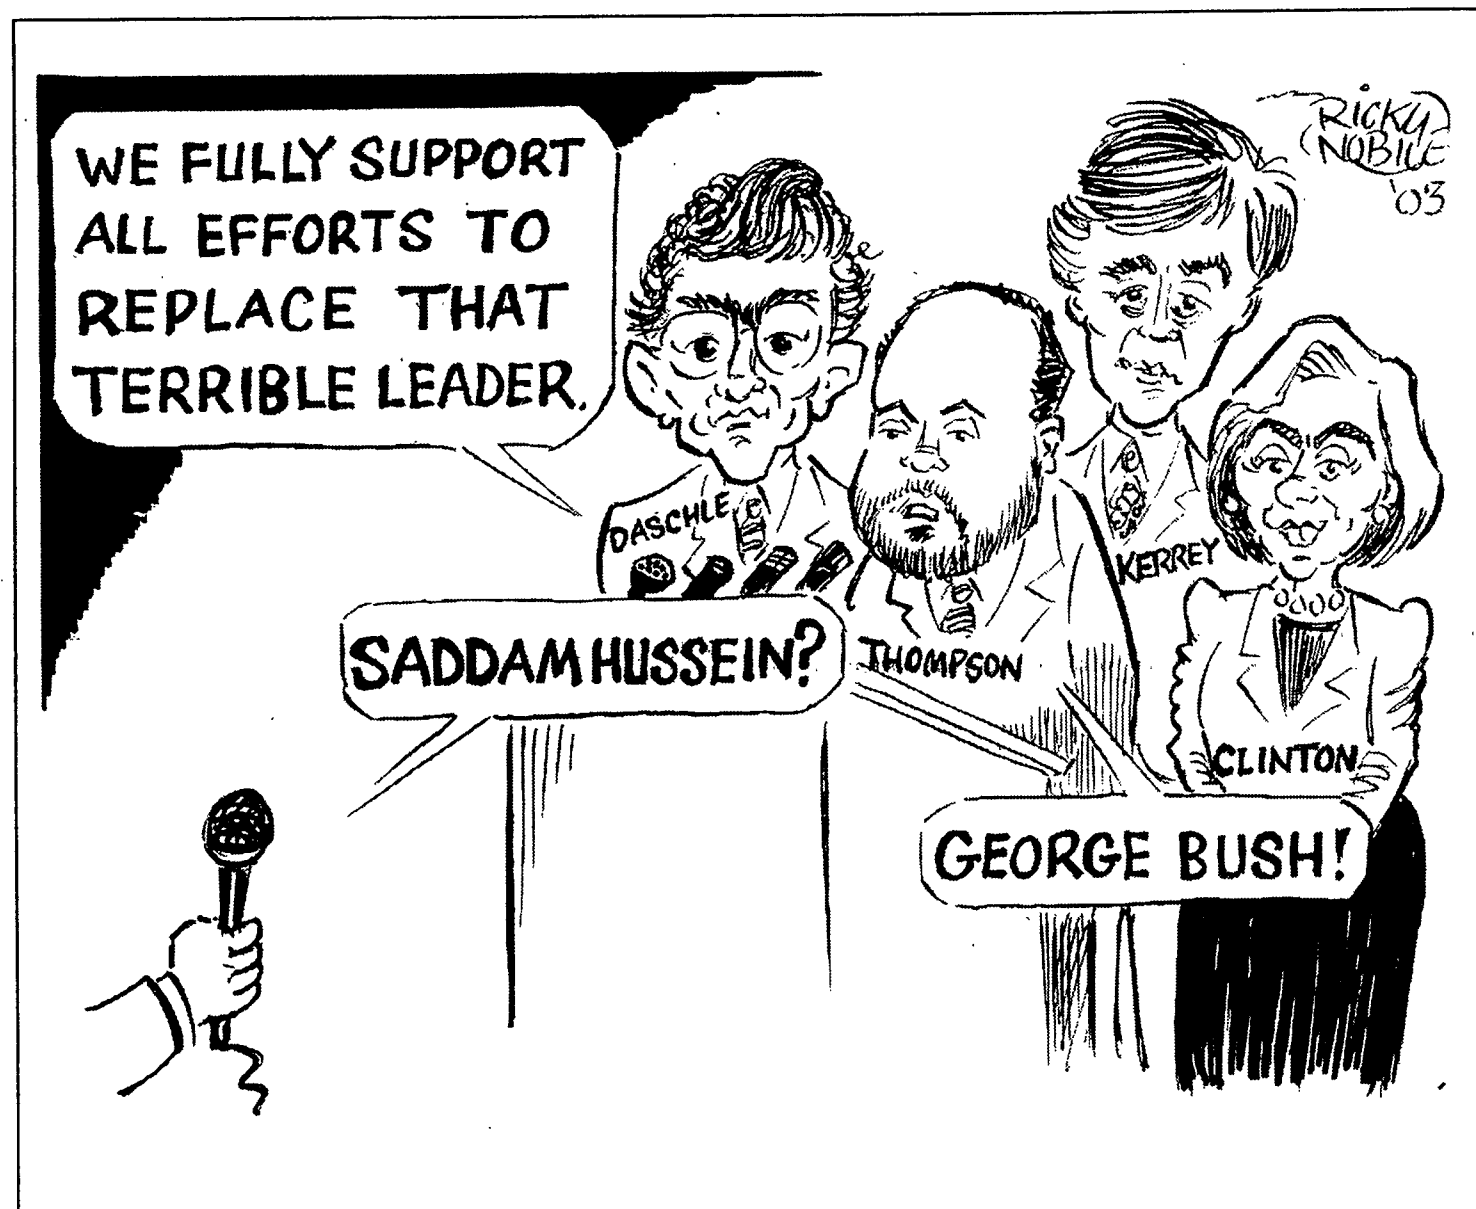

This kind of thinking actually created the baffling, cumbersome tax code we have now, and this attitude will only make it worse, not better.

The only real way to truly create a better life for all Americans is not by taking from one citizen and giving to another, but by listening to those among us - like small business people - who actually create the jobs which Americans need to succeed. According to the National Federation of Independent Business there are several things Congress can do right now to stimulate the economy and help create jobs. The first is to pass the economic stimulus package that President Bush has introduced. President Bush has put forth a tax relief package specifically designed to create jobs. It would impact up to 480,000 Mississippi taxpayers, and it could protect or create as many as 8,000 jobs in the state. Even for Mississippi households who pay little or no income tax, this is a package one can hardly refuse given the economic implications.

In addition to tax relief, I believe Congress can help the private sector create jobs two more ways: by controlling spending and by spending wisely.

SCHOOLS

Q May a school board designate someone, other than the superintendent, to make a recommendation to the board to employ a principal or non-instructional employee for the district?

A Section 37-9-15 allows the board to designate a person other than the superintendent to recommend employment of persons as principals and assistant superintendents. Section 37-9-17 allows a local school board to appoint someone other than the superintendent to accept and bring recommendations to the board for two (2) positions, be it a licensed employee or a non-instructional employee, for each school in each employment period. (Attorney General's Opinion to Brown dated September 20, 2002)

Q May a school district dock the salary of a teacher during the current school year for disciplinary violations that occurred during the previous school year and for which the school board has affirmed the punishment of a suspension without pay?

A A school board has the authority to issue a licensed employee a suspension without pay in a school year subsequent to the one in which the misconduct occurred. However, should the district administer the punishment, it is advised to dock the employee's pay based upon last year's salary. (Attorney General's Opinion to Adams dated October 18, 2002)

Q If a community college is located within the limits of a city, do the city police have authority to come onto the campus and enforce traffic laws and city ordinances?

A A municipal officer may enforce the state's criminal laws on the campus of a junior or community college that is within the corporate limits of a municipality. However, the municipality's ordinances are not enforceable on the campus. (Attorney General's Opinion to Roberts dated November 1, 2002)

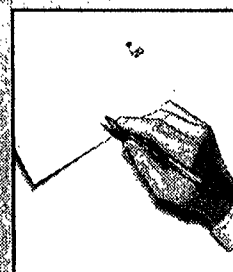

Q Under the provisions of Section 37-2914.1, is it legal for a board of supervisors to reduce the millage and consequently the income received therefrom from the previous year's budget allocation to the local community college?

community college makes a request for such a reduction.

When a county has a general reassessment of property to increase the county ad valorem tax assessments, the county may reduce the millage for general support and capital improvements, provided that its aggregate budget for junior college purposes is not lower than was paid the previous year (Attorney General's Opinion to Carroll dated October 25, 2002)

Q Does Section 37-29-261 allow a board of supervisors to create a line item budget for a community college project and contribute a dollar amount to the community college to pay for part of the cost of the project?

A A county may not contribute from its general funds to a community college. Section 37-29-261 was crafted to allow the county to use equipment already owned by the county and labor already in the employ of the county, but not to authorize the county to make a donation to the community college. Remember, every dollar of taxes you just sent to Washington on your tax return is not the government's money, not some Washington agency's money, but your tax dollar. Just because it leaves your hand in no way means that money is any less yours.

Therefore, Congress should be accountable to you and try to control spending your money, especially in a time of economic uncertainty.

You will hear a lot about deficit spending in the coming months. Congress must indeed be concerned about our return to deficit spending and work to end or curtail it. However, deficit spending is absolutely no excuse to raise taxes, as some would have us believe.

Instead, it is a call to be more frugal with the tax dollars Congress already has.

In addition to controlling spending, I am working very hard to make sure the Senate passes legislation for projects that yield both an immediate and long-term return for your tax investment.

Governor Musgrove signs bill to help create jobs in rural MS

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Governor

Ronnie Musgrove has signed House Bill 1335, known as the Mississippi Rural Impact Act. The legislation, proposed by Musgrove in his State of the State address in January, focuses on creating jobs in rural areas of the state through financial assistance for economic development projects.

"I am fighting for jobs in every part of our state, and this new law helps us win that fight through additional resources for building jobs," Musgrove said. "We'll be investing in our infrastructure and our people to improve the quality of life statewide."

The act also provides for the creation of the Mississippi Rural Impact Fund, supported by the issuance of up to $10 million in general obligation bonds. Funds will be used to provide grants or loans to rural communities in support of economic development efforts, and to guarantee loans on behalf of rural businesses.

"With this initiative in place our work to attract new jobs and new industries to rural areas will be strengthened," said Bob Rohrlack, executive director of the Mississippi Development Authority. "This will serve as a model for other states to follow."

"This is another great tool for bringing jobs to rural Mississippi, and builds on the success of the Advantage Mississippi Initiative," said Randy Kelley, executive director of Three Rivers Planning and Development District. "Governor Musgrove is demonstrating the leadership we need to build good jobs and investments in rural Mississippi."

The legislation became effective immediately upon Musgrove's signature.

Under Musgrove's leadership and during national recession, more than 2,000 new and expanded facilities have opened, creating more than 50,000 jobs and a total business investment of over $14 billion. Mississippi has been listed as one of the top ten states for small business survival. The January 2003 issue of the Expansion Management magazine ranked four Mississippi cities in its survey of America's 50 hottest cities for business expansions.

asked to vacate are appealing back to the board of aldermen.

Moore said the board has already given these people an opportunity to settle their debts.

During its last meeting, the board authorized its temporary harbor master, Glover Hayden, to file trespassing charges against those who have been notified to vacate but have yet to move their boats.

"We need to send a message to these people that if they don't pay their slip rental, they're not going to keep their boats in our harbor," Moore said. "It's not fair to the people who are paying their rent or the people waiting for slips to open up."

The city is also expecting more boats to come in, Moore said, because of the arrival of shrimp season on June 6.

Moore said several factors have delayed the harbor master's office in keeping up with payments including personnel problems and the tropical storms last fall.

"The way the harbor has been run has been in disaster because we haven't had a permanent harbor master," Moore said.

Hayden was hired last year as temporary harbor master while the original harbor master was on suspension. The board of aldermen had previously terminated this harbor master who was later reinstated by the Civil Service Commission. He was put on suspension and then probation. The board, however, fired the harbor master once again for conduct unbecoming of a department head and city official, Moore said.

While personnel problems were still lingering, Tropical Storm Isidore and Hurricane Lili also added to the confusion within the harbor master's office.

The board of aldermen, however, are now working with Hayden to get the slips back on track. Moore said several boats who were behind in payments have been vacated within the last few months.

The intent of the drug court system is to help the Coast cope with an ever-increasing number of narcotics-related cases and crowding in jails and prisons. Drug court seeks to treat the addiction rather than run countless numbers of suspects through the court system, where they are often later released -- and often commit even more crimes.

Rather than being incarcerated, many drug court offenders would receive inpatient treatment for their addictions, then be placed under house arrest at their own expense, but still be allowed to work. At the same time, they would be required to attend counseling and submit to regular drug testing.

"I think it's a great idea," Kellar said. Offenders would be under house arrest, and cost the court and penal systems far less money, he said.

Hinds County already has a drug court program started in 1999 by 14th Circuit Court Judge Keith Starrett, with promising results. Circuit Court Judge Bob Helfrich has also pledged to begin one in Forrest County by the end of the year.

According to the National Association of Drug Court Professionals, more than 300,000 people have gone through drug courts across the country. The NADCP says that about 70 percent of those graduated without relapsing. There are varying eligibility requirements, but violent offenders are not eligible to exercise the drug court option.

them with a screw driver, then the suspect fled. The property owners did not have a telephone, so they went seeking a telephone to summon help.

"Two sheriff's units, one with Deputy Push Phillips, and the other Lt. Ron Borja and Reserve Deputy Tracey Borja were responding to the call. Officers had been given information the trespasser had possible been in a gray van. One unit of responders saw a gray van in a ditch on the Rocky Hill/Dedeaux Road and the driver standing along side it," Luther reported.

Luther continued "The vehicle's driver, Danny R. Bergeron, 40, of Kiln was arrested and charged with driving with a suspended driver's license and receiving stolen property following a check with reported the vehicle as being stolen from Texas. Bergeron was being held in Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility under a $25,000 bond."

"When the home owners returned home, they along with nearby neighbors saw their mobile home on fire at the front entrance. Along with neighbors they were able to quell the flames before the arrival of a fire department. There was some damage to the residence," Luther said.

Luther said neighbors had reported seeing the van fleeing from the area and officers found a gas container near the home and gas was possibly used to start the fire.

Gas -- Bay Council

costs to buy gas average $3 to $5 per cubic foot, said the mayor. Even with additional charges the city pays to have the natural gas delivered to town, and the utility department's salaries and expenses, the basic charge usually is in line, Favre said.

If anything, Favre added, gas customers were subsidizing expenses in the water and sewer divisions before the city imposed a rate hike to cover those utility expenses.

Ward 2 council member Doug Seal said the arrangement seems to amount to a budgetary "crap shoot."

Favre said he'll present a mid-year budget review later this month, which should illustrate how the city's utility enterprises are faring, compared to this year's budget. The mayor said that review also would cover some needed capital improvement outlays not currently in the budget. "We've got streets that are falling apart," Favre said.

In the zoning variance matter, city attorney John Scafide asked council to study several proposed changes to the code that would simplify the process now in place.

For one thing, Scafide thinks the existing regulation that the city must notify all property owners within 300 feet of a proposed variance is too cumbersome. He's suggesting a 100-foot radius instead, cutting down the time and expense the city faces for notifying the immediate property owners of nearby changes.

Scafide said as long as close neighbors of the proposed change are notified, news of any controversial pending variance would inevitably spread. Favre said the city also might upgrade the size and nature of signs it posts on the site of proposed variance or zoning changes.

Meanwhile, city officials are studying the criteria that must be met before variances are granted. The current code has nine requirements. Scafide wants to eliminate three of those and amend another for clarification.

After council's study of the proposal, the Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing and make recommendations for final action.

In other matters, council: • Was told that demolition of 203 Citizen St. should occur immediately. The city recently won a lawsuit clearing the way for its demolition. But the contractor the city hired to tear it down has been afraid to proceed, Favre said, because of the proximity of a truck on the small lot.

"I told him start tearing it down," the mayor said, even if a tow truck has to be called to remove the truck. Neighbor Pat Cucullu said the building's fate has been at issue for 12 years, and three months.

In memory of our little girl, Lauren Dianne Brackett, who was called to God even before drawing her first breath of this world. We will always remember the joy you brought to us and the lessons you bestowed upon us through your presence these past months, and we pray that we will always feel the warmth of your soul upon us as we continue on our journeys through this life. And, although the pain of losing you will remain heavy in our hearts for some time, the comfort that your soul is now at peace with our heavenly father, our blessed mother and all those close to us who have gone before you in his love, will offer us some solace during this difficult time. And just as we accepted you as our special gift from the creator, we now lovingly return you to him that made you to fulfill whatever purpose he has for you now.

Words cannot express the gratitude that we have felt as a result of the overwhelming support that we have received from our family, our friends, and members of our community. We pray that our daughter in heaven will ask God for a special blessing to be bestowed upon each of your families that you may be gifted with the ability to love one another unconditionally and always, and we pray that you may never take one moment of that love for granted, May God bless you all. Aaron and Mary Beth Brackett.

USM influencing crab production

THE SEA COAST ECHO

University of Southern Mississippi scientists at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory have launched a $320,000 research project to answer basic questions about ensuring future blue crab populations in the Gulf of Mexico and the Chesapeake Bay.

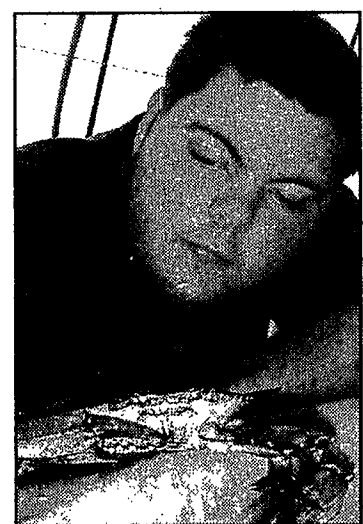

Harriet Perry, Dr. Jeffrey Lotz and Dr. Robin Overstreet are investigating the status of disease and the genetic structure of blue crab populations in the gulf as part of a national Blue Crab Advanced Research Consortium. Established through funding from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in the U.S. Department of Commerce, the consortium is on a mission to develop through basic research new approaches to sustain and increase harvests of blue crabs.

Perry said consortium members on the gulf and on the Atlantic will share new knowledge and technologies, but how they use what they learn will address different problems.

"A major part of our research is developing effective procedures for rearing blue crabs from eggs," Perry said. "The biggest challenge is juvenile grow-out. Once we have met that challenge, we will have a dependable supply of juvenile crabs as test animals for disease studies and experiments on pond stocking and grow-out."

She said the Chesapeake is recruitment limited and research there is focusing on stock enhancement. In the gulf, disease that has the potential to severely impact blue crab population levels is an emerging issue.

Members of the consortium are the GCRL, the University of Maryland Center of Marine Biotechnology, the Smithsonian Environmental Research Center, the Virginia Institute of Marine Science and North Carolina State

Lab aide Matthew Frenz examines a blue crab scheduled for disease studies at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory. USM scientists are gearing up for a new research initiative to investigate crab population structure and how parasites infect and spread in blue crabs. Photo by Linda Skupien University.

Perry is technical director of the crab consortium's GCRL component and director of the Center for Fisheries Research and Development at the laboratory. She has pioneered much of the blue crab research of the northern gulf.

Her colleagues on the project are also at the top of their fields. Lotz, professor in the USM Department of Coastal Sciences headquartered at GCRL, heads up the laboratory's national marine aquaculture research and development programs. Overstreet, also a professor of coastal sciences, is an international authority on marine parasites and diseases.

"We will be using the tools of modern biology and biotechnology to study and better understand the fundamental processes involved in the blue crab life cycle," Perry said. "That new knowledge will be the foundation for developing, assessing and validating strategies to achieve the consortium's ultimate goal - increasing blue crab harvests."

Lady Tigers Labat &amp; Reed sign scholarships

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Carmen Labat and Stephanie Reed, both seniors at Bay High, will have the opportunity to play college basketball next season.

Two of the major cogs in Debbie Triplett's state 4A championship machine this past season signed National Letters of Intent on Wednesday.

Labat will lend her services to the Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcats while Reed will bolster the roster of Paine College in Augusta, Georgia.

The Lady Wildcats of PRCC made a deep run in the National Junior College tournament this spring. The addition of the Player of the Year in South Mississippi will no doubt give the team much promise to repeat that feat.

Labat, a player who never seemed to be rattled, averaged 18.7 points per game for the Lady Tigers on the offensive end of the court. In addition to that mark, Labat contributed 4.2 rebounds, 2.3 assists, and 2.1 steals per game for the state champions.

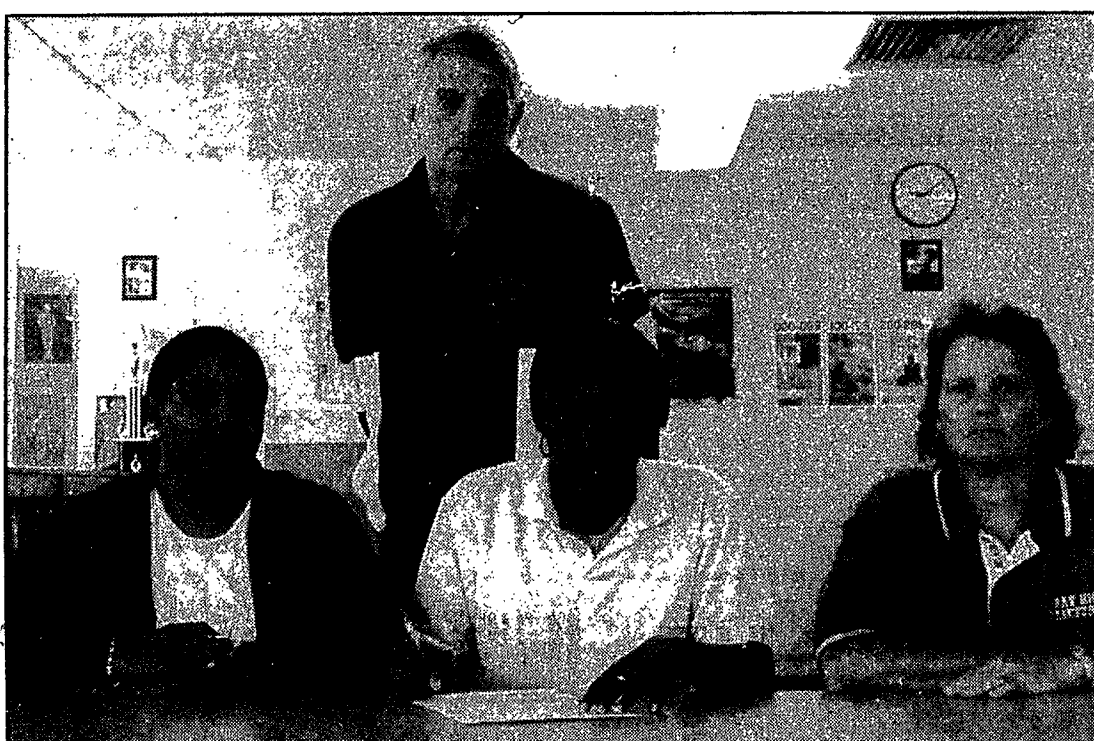

Time and again, Labat pulled the trigger in the game's most crucial moments. And, more often than not, the shot was right on target. She finished the season hitting 68.3% of free throws and shot 45% from the field.

The 5-9 guard/forward will figure prominently in the starting lineup in Poplarville next season.

Reed, a 5-5 point guard, was the one who made the machine click for Debbie Triplett. Reed only averaged 10.6 points per game; however, it was her mastery of the offense and cool demeanor that enabled her to run the best floor game in Bay High students Carmen Labat and Stephanie Reed both sign letters of intent Wednesday to play college basketball. Labat, below, will play for Pearl River Community College; Reed for Paine College in Augusta, Ga.

Class 4A.

In addition to her ball handling skills and points, Reed contributed with 4.4 assists and 3.2 steals per game. She led the team in free throw percentage with a 79.5% mark and shot 45% from the field, including 42% beyond the arc. Reed's ability to control the ball will add stock as she pushes for playing time in the fall.

Labat and Reed helped lead the Lady Tigers to the Class 4A state title and a 35-1 record. Bay High ended the year ranked No. 1 in the state of Mississippi. Labat was named the Most Valuable Offensive Player in Division 8-4A, All-State, and Player of the Year in South Mississippi. Upon the conclusion of the season, Labat was named to the South All-Star team for the North-South All-Star game to be played in July.

Reed was named the Most Valuable Defensive Player in Division 8-4A and All-State. She will also be competing in the State Tennis Tournament for the Bay High Tigers in the coming weeks. Her scholarship to Paine College will also include the sport of volleyball.

Bay High Lady Tigers head coach Debbie Triplett stated, "Obviously, I am very proud of their accomplishments. I wish them the best of luck in the future. They were invaluable to this program and they will no doubt be an asset to their respective programs in the years to come."

Tigers end season with Resurrection rout

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Tigers ended a solid season of baseball with their annual Senior Night on Monday. The Tigers routed Resurrection 16-2 as all the Tiger seniors had an opportunity to pitch in the finale.

Brandon Strong was credited with the win and tallied two hits at the plate. Rudy Lymuel dinged a 3-run homer and collected three RBIs while Jeremy Shiyou smashed a grand slam to get 4 RBIs. Aaron Morris tapped out two hits in the game for the Tigers.

The six Tiger pitcher combined to pitch a no-hitter in the game.

The win gave the Tigers an overall record of 17-7. In the previous game, the Tigers were eliminated from the playoffs on the last out of the game. The loss left Bay High with a 9-3 record in the division.

The Tigers dropped that game 2-1 to the East Central Hornets. It was only the second loss on the road for the Tigers during the 2003 season.

Bay High was up 2-1 in the bottom of the seventh inning with two outs and two strikes on the East Central batter. An error cost the Tigers the game and the chance to move on. Had Bay High won the team with the best record in the state at 24-3, Vancleave, would have remained home.

In the game against East Central, the Hornets pounded out 11 hits but only had one run to show for it going into the final inning. Bay High head coach Mike Weems stated, "We were right where we wanted to be at that point in the game. It just didn't happen for us."

While the Tigers have a number of players returning, there are several aspects to work on and voids to fill before 2004. As in 2003, the pitching will be a focal point for the Tigers. Also, they need to replace their catcher and improve their hitting.

Weems commented, "Pitching was our strong point this season. Brandon Strong, Aaron Morris, and B.J. Corr could not have played any better on the mound. I feel we peaked early with our hitting this year because we were not getting the timely hits later in the season. Overall, I thought we had a really good year and we put ourselves in a position to achieve our goal of reaching the playoffs. We fell one game short. Defensively, for the most part, we were solid. We did a lot of the little things right to win. Hitting will need to be improved for next season. A void, defensively, that we will need to fill will be at catcher with Guy Alleman. Anytime you lose a four-year starter at that position, it has to be focal point."

OLA ends division competition in second place

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Our Lady Academy Crescents fell just shy of a Division 8-2A title in track on Thursday in Gulfport. The Lady Crusaders of Mercy Cross edged OLA 149-141 for the title. Rounding out the final standings were North Forrest with 78 points, St. John of Gulfport 43, Richton 29, and Lumberton with 24 points.

OLA qualified in 14 of the 16 events for regional competition that will be held on Saturday, April 26th at Gulfport. The top four finishers in each event move on to the regional meet.

Margaret Rittiner won the 400m dash with a time of 1:08. Other first place winners for OLA were Annette Allard in the high jump and Caroline Boelte in the triple jump. Allard's height was 4'8" and Boelte's distance was 29'4".

Boelte also qualified in the 400m dash finishing second to Rittiner with a time of 1:09. Allard added a third place in the 100m low hurdles with a time of 19.75.

Jennifer Asper qualified in three events for the Crescents. Asper finished second in the 300m hurdles and the 3200m run with times of 54.85 and 13:14, respectively. She also finished third in the 1600m run with a time of 6:04.

Ashton Johnson will move on with a second place in the discus. She had a throw of 87'. Jaime Reisch advanced in the 200m dash with a third place time of 28.89 and the long jump. Her distance was 13'4" which was good enough for fourth place.

Kaitlyn Bosley qualified in the long jump and the triple jump. She placed second in the triple jump and third in the long jump with distances of 29'2" and 13'5".

The 800m and 1600m relay teams both finished third to advance with times of 1:59.75 and 5:07. Kaylee Schmitt added a fourth place finish in the high jump with a leap of 4'2". Lindsay Benvenutti took third place in the 800m run with a time of 3:00. Mandy Donlin brought home fourth place in the 3200m run with a time of 14:44. Laura Kergosien took fourth place in the 100m low hurdles in 20.41. Elissa Kergosien qualified in the 100m dash with a fourth place finish and time of 14.41.

Stanislaus basketball star to play for Italy internationally

Faranda in Paris for Junior World Tournament

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

We all know that basketball is an international sport. It is played in virtually every country of the world and on every continent. However, it is not often that we come across someone who has the opportunity to play internationally. That has changed.

Mario Faranda, a 6-5 junior resident student at St. Stanislaus College, has embarked on a basketball journey that has taken him to the Junior World Tournament in Paris, France from April 11-23.

Faranda hails from Lima, Peru; however, his grandparents are from Italy. That bloodline allowed him to be chosen for the Italian Junior National Team.

Faranda spoke on his selection, "This is a great honor to be chosen by the country that my grandparents are from. It is an opportunity to expand my horizons, not only as a basketball player, but as a student. This opportunity will allow me to see and experience things not many students my age have the opportunity to experience."

The head coach for the Italian Junior National team contacted Faranda's parents about the possibility of Mario's availability to play. The team requested film of Faranda playing in the United States and they liked what they saw.

This past season Faranda helped the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws to a 31-6 overall record and a second consecutive trip to the Final Four in Class 4A. The Rocks were defeated by the No. 1 team in Mississippi, Jackson-Lanier, in their bid the first-ever state title appearance in basketball.

Some of the other team accomplishments that Faranda was a part of was the Division 8 Class 4A title, the Admiral Hardwood Classic title, the Mayor's Cup, the Biloxi Thanksgiving Tournament title, the War on the Shore title, Coliseum Shootout Champions, and 4A South State Tournament runners-up.

Individually, Faranda earned All-Division 8 Class 4A recognition and All-South Mississippi after averaging 16.7 points and 8.3 rebounds per game.

For only his second year in the United States, those are not bad stats. Moreover, they are even more incredible because his first sport was soccer - a sport in which you can't use your hands. Faranda did not pick up a basketball until the age of 12. But, once he picked it up, he fell in love with the game.

Even though Mario was a good athlete in Peru and a strong student in the classroom, his parents wanted Mario to expand his educational horizons. Mario's aunt lives in New Orleans and his parents worked through her to find a boarding school, preferably Catholic, that would meet their son's needs both in academics and extra-curriculars.

The opportunity to attend a school in the United States allowed Mario to expand his use of the English language, experience new cultures, and learn the game of basketball where it was invented. Faranda, an Alpha Honor Roll student, spoke of the difference in his game when he arrived, "When I got to the United States, I did not know about work ethic on the court. The organized game of basketball was new to me. Coach (Jay) Ladner develops his players through work ethic, structure, and knowledge. When we leave the court, we know the game of basketball. However, when we leave the court we also have been educated in life skills through his philosophy and how he approaches the game. Coach Ladner develops a complete player for both on and off the court."

Faranda's family is back in Peru and his aunt lives in Louisiana, but Faranda rarely stays weekends at SSC. He has been accepted with open arms by the students at SSC. Faranda comments, "My teammates and classmates are my family here. I am always with them. We push each other on the court and in the classroom. They have been an integral part of my growth and development here."

Jay Ladner has seen Faranda come a long way in the short time that he has been in the United States. Ladner recalled, "Obviously, as a 10th grader he had a tremendous amount to get accustomed to. Firstly, there was American society that he had to get a grip on. Then, his approach to academics had to change being in a foreign country. Plus, he had never really played organized basketball before and that was something new to learn outside all the other pressures that he faced. Mario has a great upside if he continues to develop all the way around. I think to have an opportunity to do something like this is fantastic. Not only will he get some tremendous exposure in the game of basketball, but will have the opportunity to experience another culture. Most American kids would do anything to have that opportunity."

It is hard to say that soccer would have opened the doors that basketball has for Mario Faranda. There are not too many 6-5 soccer players running around. However, basketball and Mario Faranda have been a good fit so far. The world is the limit for Mario Faranda, literally.

Planting project

Trudy Cook, a representative of the Harrison County Sand Beach Department, waters plants before they are to be planted near Davis Avenue and Highway 90 in Pass Christian. Several citizens including Gwen Voights, Herb Horst, Dee Horst, Alicia Ellis and Dr. Pat Johnson assembled Friday morning to plant shrubbery as part of the city's beautification project. They planted Dwarf Hawthorne, Dwarf Yupon Holly, Crepe Myrtlettes, Split Leaf Philo, Japanese Shore Juniper, Golden Mound Spirea and Japanese Sago Palm. This was the group's first planting project. Watch for the full story in an upcoming issue of the Sea Coast Echo.

Hwy. 90 rehabilitation project due to be complete this summer

THE SEA COAST ECHO

According to Mississippi Transportation Commissioner Wayne Brown, construction continues on Highway 90 in East Hancock County as crews work to rehabilitate the existing highway.

The purpose for this project is to rehabilitate the existing pavement on 5.6 miles of Highway 90 from Highway 607 to Waveland Avenue in east Hancock County, Brown said this $5 million project was awarded to Bond Paving Company of Gulfport, as the lowest bidder and is scheduled to be completed during the summer of 2003.

"Work crews are in the process of completing the placement of the concrete pavement portion of this job and cleaning and sealing all joints in the pavement," Brown said. "The improvements that are being made to this section of highway will be favorably noticed by the traveling public once completed as a smoother, safer highway and will be one positive result of this much needed work."

He said that as the work nears completion, crews will add asphalt to the shoulders of the highway, repave the median crossovers, add right and left turn lanes, and restripe the roadway.

"Improvements to our highways are needed for the safety and convenience of the public," Brown said, "MDOT's number one priority is the safety of the traveling public, and rehabilitating our highways is one way we can do that."

Motorists are urged to "Think Ahead," "Buckle Up" and exercise caution when traveling through the work zone area. To receive more information about this or other projects, call the Mississippi Department of Transportation Public Affairs Division at (601) 359-7017. Also, check the

Bay to host Dixie League Ponytails World Series

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The city of Bay St. Louis will host the 2003 Dixie Softball Ponytails World Series Aug. 1-8 at the Bay St. Louis Athletic Complex.

Although the event will be held in Bay St. Louis, Mayor Eddie Favre said the series will be a county-wide affair.

Therefore, organizers are asking county residents for support.

"We need people to do whatever they can to help," Favre said. "We have room for anyone who wants to help."

In addition to volunteers, Favre said contributions in the form of money, items and time are also needed.

Officials said approximately 1,200 to 1,300 people are expected to attend the tournament, which will last at least eight days. States being represented in the tournament include Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

"As excited as we are to host this tournament, I think Dixie Softball is more excited to come here," Favre said. "This is the first time the tournament will be held on the Gulf Coast."

1893 Telephone in works between Bay, W'land

TEN YEARS AGO

March 18, 1993 - The City of Bay St. Louis announced approval of a $804,000 grant from the Mississippi Transportation Commission for the restoration of the depot and surrounding site improvements. The grant is through the Federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act and is a 80/20 grant with the city contributing $160,855, which includes design costs of $56,576. Mayor Eddie Favre reported the city and CSX reached an agreement Tuesday afternoon for the city to purchase the depot and the land north of the tracks.

-For more than 27 years Patsy Koerner of Waveland has erected a St. Joseph's altar laden with food. Hundreds of families take part in the St. Joseph's Day Feast March 19 of each year. It is a custom observed normally by Italian Catholics. St. Joseph is the patron saint of those in need like travelers, the persecuted, the poor, the aged and the dying.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

March 17, 1983 - The Hancock County Citizens Jail Committee will request a feasibility study be made on the construction of a new detention facility. The committee decided at its first meeting Monday night to present the study recommendation to the next meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, March 21. Also at the meeting Monday, Terry Feeny was elected chairman; Jan Brameyer, vice-chairman; and Lana Noonan, secretary. All governmental entities, including the cities and county were represented at the meeting.

-The Mississippi Welcome Center on I-10 at Hwy. 607 in Hancock County again topped all other centers in the state with the highest number of registered visitors in January. The center reported 13,822 visitors. State-wide total was 57,083 for the month with DeSoto County registering 12,575 for second place.

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 14, 1963 - The problems of reaching the moon in this decade and the problems likely to arise in this area as a result of that effect occupied a delegation of Hancock and Harrison county officials on an orientation trip last Friday to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration installation at Huntsville,

Who's your Crawdaddy?

More than 2,000 people showed up for last year's Crawfish Cook-off, and consumed more than six tons of mudbugs.

The crawfish eating contests - one for the men and one for the ladies - are always a crowd pleaser during the Crawfish Cook-off.

About 15 teams will be preparing food this year, all vying for the award for "The most delectable, selectable, taste-pleasing, best-squeezing, juice-flowing, head-sucking, tail-pinching, best darn crawfish in the south."

The Crawfish Cook-off at the River Reef on Hwy. 603 is accessible by boat, but don't worry - If you drive, there's plenty of parking up the road and a free shuttle service.

Get your face ready for the 14th annual Crawfish Cook-off

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Get ready to join the Crustacean Nation - Saturday marks the 14th anniversary of the annual Crawfish Cook-Off.

Last year more than 2,000 people showed up for the event over the course of the day, and everybody went home well fed. That doesn't include the members of the teams participating in the cook-off.

"We do about four-and-a-half tons of crawfish (every year)," event co-founder and sponsor Roger Erickson said, "and I don't think we've ever had any left over."

Last year, the teams ended up cooking more than six tons of mudbugs.

Erickson and his partner Debby Plauché, owners of the Cafe Reef Restaurant in Waveland, began the event 14 years ago when they operated the River Reef on Hwy. 603, where the River Dock is now, and where the event still takes place each year.

"It started off between the bars ... all bragging about who could cook the best crawfish," Plauché said, but it quickly grew into something far bigger than bragging rights.

This year's cook-off will include about 15 different teams, all of which will be

Judgment on Aisle 22

I was in Winn Dixie the other day looking for some pure vanilla extract. Stella wanted to make butter pecan ice cream and had asked me to pick some up. She's been retired for a month now and is enjoying sitting around in the morning sharing breakfast with me and exercising those wonderful words. "Oh I guess I'll do this today."

Since I had to visit Dr. Sidney because of some neck pains I have been having, the nearest grocery was Winn Dixie. So much for consumer loyalty. However, the store was strange to me and I wasn't sure where to find the vanilla extract. I was wandering down the aisles, hopelessly lost, when I met another early shopper trying to get two heavy bags of flour from a low shelf into her cart. I bent down and got one and put it in while she got the other.

She thanked me and told me where to find vanilla. She was young and a little overweight and stared wistfully at her cartload of groceries. "I sure wish they delivered groceries to your house like they did newspapers." I nodded agreeably and went to the next aisle to get my vanilla.

I felt funny that someone would make such a remark. Because, of course, there was a time when they did just what she had wished. They delivered not just groceries, but dry cleaning, coffee, ice, lots of things. As a young boy, I was the delivery boy for a grocery store and I earned my spending money delivering groceries. After school, I would rush to the store, load up the groceries for several families in a large basket on my bicycle and set off to make deliveries. I was about thirteen at the time and so the actual distances now are a little fuzzy, but the people I delivered to did seem to be located a little ways from the store. With a heavy load of groceries and the hot sun, it was a lot of work.

I'd get to a house and maybe there would be someone home and maybe not. The door was usually unlocked. If not, I'd go to the back and bang on the screen door and the hook would jump loose. On rare occasions, I'd have to get

Our Lady Academy STAR Student and Teacher are selected

Asper Named 2003 STAR the University of Southern Mississippi, William Carey College, and Jefferson Davis Jr. College.

Alicia Asper, Our Lady Academy senior, has been named a STAR (Student Teacher Achievement Recognition) Student for the 2002-2003 school year by the Mississippi Economic Council's M. B. Swayze Educational Foundation, sponsor of the STAR program, according to Sister Donella Hartman, principal.

The OLA senior will be honored during the 13th annual Education Celebration on April 25 at Mississippi College in Clinton. The event is co-sponsored by Entergy.

STAR students are selected on the basis of academic excellence. Both American College Test (ACT) scores and high school scholastic averages are compared to determine the school's STAR Student, explained Peggy Howard of Jackson, chief operating officer of the Swayze Foundation.

"The STAR program encourages and promotes academic achievement among Mississippi's high school seniors," she said.

An Honor Roll student for four years, Asper is a National Merit

Finalist, the OLA Student Body President, and the editor-in-chief of the OLA School Newspaper "The Maroon Moon Tribune." She is a member of OLA's National Honor Society and Spanish Honor Society, and has been named a Pepsi Student of the Month from her class.

An anchorwoman for the WOLA News and Prayer Team, Asper is also a worship leader for OLA's Bible Study Group, a guitarist for the Praise and Worship band, and a children's church teacher. She has been a camp counselor, an intern at a Guatemalan orphanage, and a relief minister in Panama.

Asper was Homecoming Queen at St. Stanislaus College and a member of the SSC's Drama Club with the roles of actress, choreographer, guitarist, and composer. She attended the 2001 MS Governor's School and was named a Residential Honors Program Scholar.

She has attended the Youth Legislature and was named an Outstanding Representative.

Daughter of Lindell and Vernon Asper of Diamondhead, Asper plans to attend Messiah College in Pennsylvania and study English and Spanish.

Each STAR Student is asked to designate a STAR Teacher, the classroom teacher who has made the greatest contribution to the student's scholastic achievement.

Millie Church Rutledge was designated by Asper as her STAR Teacher. She lives in Waveland and has been teaching a total of 31 years. She earned a BS Degree at Mississippi University for Women and took additional courses at

Charlie Daniels Band takes the stage at Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Charlie Daniels Band will make a visit to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis over Memorial weekend with two shows Friday and Saturday, May 23 & 24, each show at 9 p.m. Tickets are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and are available at Casino Magic Box Office or any Ticketmaster location.

Like the State of Texas, Charlie Daniels is partly Western and partly Southern. His signature "bullrider" hat and belt buckle, his lifestyle on the Twin Pines Ranch (a boyhood dream come true), his love of horses, cowboy lore and the heroes of championship rodeo, Western movies, and Louis L'Amour novels, identify him as a Westerner. The son of a lumberjack and a Southerner by birth, his music - rock, country, bluegrass, blues, gospel - is quintessentially Southern. In fact, even his bent for all things Western is Southern, because his attire, his lifestyle and his interests are historically emblematic of Southern working class solidarity with the "lone cowboy" individualism of the American West. It hasn't been so much a style of music, but more the values consistently reflected in several styles that has connected Charlie Daniels with millions of fans.

For decades, he has steadfastly refused to label his music as anything other than "CDB music", music that is now sung around the fire at 4-H Club and scout camps, helped elect an American President, and been popularized on a variety of radio formats.

Daniels broke through as a record maker with 1973's "Honey In the Rock" and its hit hippie song, "Uneasy Rider." His rebel anthems "Long Haired Country Boy" and "The South's Gonna Do

Charlie Daniels

It" propelled his 1975 collection "Fire On the Mountain" to Double Platinum status.

Epic Records signed him to its rock roster in New York in 1976. In the summer of 1979 Daniels rewarded the company's faith by delivering "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," which became a Platinum single, topped both country and pop charts, won a Grammy Award, became an international phenomenon, earned three Country Music Association trophies, became a cornerstone of the "Urban Cowboy" movie soundtrack and propelled Daniel's "Million Mile Reflections" album to Triple Platinum sales levels. By 1981, the Charlie Daniels Band had twice been voted the Academy of Country Music's Touring Band of the Year. "Full Moon," issued in 1980, became Daniel's third Platinum album. "Simple Man" is also Platinum while "A Decade of Hit" is Triple Platinum, and "Windows", "Saddle Tramp" and "Midnight Wind" are Gold. He earned a Dove Award from the Gospel Music Association for The Door, and a CMA nomination for his remake of "Long Haired Country Boy" featuring John Berry and Hal Ketchum. "Amazing Grace: A Country Salute to Gospel," a compilation album including Daniels' "Kneel at the Cross," garnered a Grammy Award. His "By the Light of the Moon: Campfire Songs & Cowboy Tunes", "Christmas Time Down South" and "Blues Hat" albums added further layers to his multi-faceted style. With an unerring instinct for the universal ties that bind people together and an equal abhorrence for the intolerance and fear that do the opposite, Charlie Daniels has kept the specifics of his cultural heritage as the soul of the CDB music that has impacted the lives of everyday people everywhere. Come hear The Charlie Daniels Band at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis May 23 & 24. Must be at least 21 years of age to attend. ##### in through an open window. I'd go into the kitchen and unload the groceries on the table, putting the perishables in the refrigerator. Sometimes there would be a dime tip left on the table, sometimes not.

I slept on the enclosed back porch of our house and at about 2 a.m. twice a week, the milkman would come through the back door. If the screen door had been locked by mistake, he would hit it and come in, walking by the end of my bed in the dark, a big bruising hulk of a man. With the light of a small flashlight, he would make his way to the kitchen and load milk and cream in our old refrigerator. The empty bottles my mother had carefully washed the night before would be in there and he would put them in a little carrier he had. Sometimes my mother would want more milk or cream than normal and he would make a second trip by my bed, the bottles clanging softly in the carrier.

Ours was in a small rental house in Tampa, Florida.

It was during World War Two and housing was scarce. It did get cold in winter, but I was lucky to have the back porch to sleep on. My dad was part of a navy commissioning crew waiting on a minesweeper to be completed at Tampa Shipbuilding. When the ship was done, he rode it to Africa. Once there, for some reason he got off just before it was used in the invasion of Italy where it was sunk with all hands.

He never said much about it. He's gone now and I guess I'll never hear what really happened to his friends.

I was being taught mechanical drafting at Thomas Jefferson Junior High School under a program sponsored by Brewster Aircraft. They needed blueprints desperately and we school kids were a source of simple drawings. Years later this skill helped me work my way through college.

Giant B-17s would fly over us continuously from Mc Dill Airbase outside of Tampa.

One Saturday there was to be a fly over of 500 planes.

I'm not sure if they ever got that many in the sky, but what they did get up was impressive. They seemed to me to fill the sky with noise and to go on forever. As I watched them go over it felt good.

Where they came from I don't know; McDill didn't hold that many B-17s. It was at a time when they were starting giant air raids over Germany and the show that Saturday was both a training thing for the plane crews in assembling for such raids and a boost to our civilian morale.

The losses in B-17s during such raids during the war were staggering. The losses to me meant little, I was too young to understand.

It never occurred to me what the real purpose of those planes were and what it would be like to be where I was and to have them release their deadly loads on our house. I just remember a sky full of planes.

When I went to the movies on weekends, there were recruiters for the Merchant Marine who would sign kids up that were thirteen and over and could get their parents consent. I was scared of even thinking of signing and never told my mother that there were recruiters there.

Yesterday and today there have been and there are other wars, other planes, other ships. And the woman in the grocery probably has her own memories that are probably as vivid as mine. We all do. The varied patterns of our lives are different and as brilliant to each of us as mine have been to me.

Dr Sidney says the pains in my neck are what one expects when one gets old. I turned seventy-three last week. I feel great and except for the neck pains and going up and down ladders to the roof, I feel fine.

Well, maybe that sack of flour was a little bit heavy.

Crawfish -- Cook-off is Saturday

vying for the first place trophy which declares their respective team has "The most delectable, selectable, taste-pleasing, best-squeezing, juice-flowing, head-sucking, tail-pinching, best darn crawfish in the south."

Each team submits one member to be a judge, and all the judges do a blind taste to determine the winner. And all the spectators are allowed to vote for a popular favorite, Erickson said, "and of course, that makes the team members compete for that vote in different ways too. We do have a showmanship award."

The cook-off seems to have found universal appeal, Erickson said:

"Bankers, lawyers, bikers, it doesn't matter -- everybody's out there to have a good time."

There will also be a live band, men's and ladies crawfish eating contests, and plenty of beverages.

The event takes place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

"All-you-can-eat" admission is $16 for adults, $8 for children, and those age five and under eat free.

A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Hope Haven children's shelter. Hope Haven will also host a 50/50 raffle during the event, and will take donations.

Parking will be limited at the River Dock, so Erickson and Plauché will have a free shuttle bus making regular runs between the cook-off and Stennis Airport/Hancock High School road. There are still a few team slots available. To register a team to compete, call 467-0155 or 467-7333.

Spots for cooking are assigned on a first come, first serve basis starting Friday morning, April 25th at 8:30 a.m., Plauché said,

Hancock County attorney visits schools as part of 'Lawyer In Every MS. Classroom'

Hancock County attorney Patricia H. Willis recently educated local students on their constitutional freedoms as part of a special volunteer project.

Willis, who visited Pearl River Central High School, was among 200 attorneys taking part in a statewide program to educate students on America's legal system. The "Lawyer in Every Mississippi Classroom" Program is sponsored by The Mississippi Bar Young Lawyers Division and funded by the Interest on Lawyers Trust Accounts

Program of the Mississippi Bar Foundation, Inc.

"Lawyer in Every Mississippi Classroom" gives students and visiting attorneys the opportunity to discuss a variety of subjects, including the Bill of Rights, civil law and constitutional rights.

FAITH IN THE PROPHETS

IN BIBLE TIMES THE PEOPLE HAD STEADFAST FAITH IN THE PROPHETS. THIS IS NOT HARD TO BELIEVE WHEN ONE REALIZES THAT THE PROPHETS HAD GREAT TRACK RECORDS. THE PEOPLE CAME TO BELIEVE THESE MEN WERE INFALLIBLE, AND THEY WERE NOT WRONG! FROM MOSES TO AMOS, TO JEREMIAH, AND THE MANY OTHERS, THE EVENTS THEY PROPHESIED CAME TRUE. RICH AND POOR, ROYALTY AND PEASANT ALL BELIEVED IN THEIR AUTHORITY AND PROPHETIC WORDS! SO MUCH SO THAT WHEN KING HEZEKIAH IS CONFRONTED BY THE ASSYRIAN THREAT TO JERUSALEM.....

..... THE FACT THAT ISAIAH HAS PROCLAIMED THAT JERUSALEM SHALL NOT BE HARMED.....

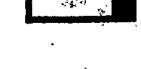

...KEEPS KING HEZEKIAH'S FAITH REMAINING STRONG BECAUSE OF ISAIAH'S PROMISE AND WILL NOT GIVE IN TO THIS THREAT OF THE ASSYRIAN ARMY, EVEN AS HE WATCHES THEIR CAMPFIRES AT NIGHT FROM THE WALL OF HIS VENERABLE CITY!

AND HOW RIGHT HE IS, WHEN MORNING COMES THE ASSYRIAN ARMY HAS BEEN STRUCK BY A PLAGUE! (ISAIAH 37:36)

Advertisements during Holy Week

It is Monday of Holy Week. The mail man makes his usual early delivery including a large, puffy envelope from the Hallmark Corporation.

What a shock to see the image of a tiny baby lying on the straw of a manger with a star shining directly overhead! But I thought this was Holy Week!

Sure, Easter is still six days away, but a Christmas card advertisement has hit the market already. Some decades ago, it used to be that Christmas was not mentioned by mercenary interests before Thanksgiving Day. It's amazing just how long ago that seems. Nowadays, of course, Macy's parade occurs long after the first Christmas TV pitches of July and August.

But this is not July. Frankly, the card advertisement left a very bad taste in my mouth because of its ill timing and blatantly venal intent.

Worse than raining on a parade, this came off like the grinch's attempt to steal Easter. Is there nothing sacred anymore, nothing immune from the inroads of money?

Worse, as one ponders the implications of a Christmas advertisement in Holy Week, it gradually becomes obvious that this is but the tip of the ugly iceberg of slickly veneered secular interests which do not have our concerns of Easter at heart at all. A holy day does not count. Only its money potential.

The very human, gripping, emotional event of Christmas is the superstar of holy days, triggering the most sublime, the most moving, the most joyful of our human hopes, experiences and loves. And the most successful by the hard dollar count of merchants of every ilk! That relegates Easter to the status of a second-rate stepchild incapable of reaping huge financial benefits.

This venal, mercenary perception of Easter goes far beyond the greeting card industry, which, in all fairness, is likely the least offensive of mercenary companies in that it does greeting cards for every occasion, including Easter. The rest of the dirty iceberg is far more offensive, embracing every facet of the world of entertainment, the media and souvenir/gift/candy companies.

In a word, Easter is still as daunting to the whole world as it was to the men of Athens (Acts 17:32) when Paul proclaimed that God confirmed his salvation promises by raising Jesus from the dead. Some of the Athenians scoffed, while others expressed an interest in hearing him sometime later.

There are as many or more who scoff at resurrection today as in the time of Paul. However, much evidence suggests that relatively few people actually bother to scoff at the notion of resurrection. Most people simply ignore it or do not bother to think about it. It is not part of their awareness.

Apart from radio evangelists, televangelists, church pulpits and theology and Bible classes, how many people in your contacts and experiences even mention the idea of resurrection? It is the least human, most logic-defying and least compelling of the concepts we humans try to understand. It is not a study-friendly thing but rather hard labor to analyze resurrection.

Perhaps, a simple understanding of how people overlook resurrection is summarized by an amorous boy and a puzzled young lady alone in serious conversation. "Do you believe in the hereafter?" she asked him. "If you know why I'm here, then you know what I'm after," he answered wryly.

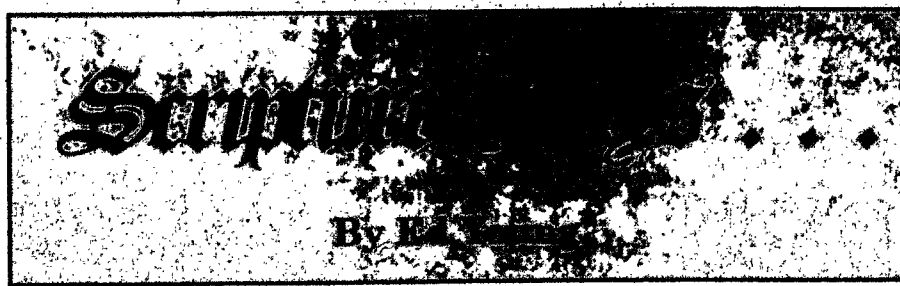

Think about your TV experiences with resurrection, not considering the televangelists. The only TV references to afterlife and resurrection come from profit-motivated films on ghosts and several major productions on the Bible. Even there, it is money doing most of the talking.

Scratch the radio transmissions entirely, except for evangelists who talk about resurrection with regularity and conviction. For the most part, scratch the printed media as well, with a notable exception for the religion section. Unless the subject is seances, rumored paranormal phenomena or some other pseudo-religious thing, what do you ever read about afterlife or resurrection?

Again, if there is no money to be made in the venture, scarcely a soul talks about the subject of resurrection, hardly anyone writes about it or initiates screen productions portraying it or including it. By now I hope you are thinking that this omission is a serious threat to the salvation of many. For how can people be saved without believing in Jesus crucified and raised?

Modern culture is the main stumbling block here, since today's culture routinely eliminates religion from schools as well as its attitudes, tenets and actions. Since we are Easter people, this omission by modern culture is our invitation and challenge to be aggressive in the face of indifferent unbelief.

We want the world to know and we will have the world know: "If Christ has not been raised, then empty is our preaching; empty, too, your faith- If for this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are the most pitiable people of all. But now Christ has been raised from the dead, the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep." (1 Corinthians 15:14, 19, 20)

Prophecy

In the latter days Israel will be invaded by the following countries; Magog, Tubal, Meshech are the people of modern day (Russia) but refers to (Lybia). Togarmah are inhabitants of present day (Turkey). Persia is (Iran) today. Egypt, Ethiopia are listed also in Ezekiel 38th and 39th chapters; in the Old Testament. This prophecy will come to past at the end of this age. Rev. 14:14-20 Christ will return and destroy all the invading armies that or attacking Israel.

Quote: Thou shalt fall upon the mountains of Israel, Thou and all thy hordes, and the peoples that are with thee; I will send a fire on Magog and among those who dwell security in the coastlands; and they shall know I am the Lord. Ezekiel 39:4-6

Dear Reader, If you were to read these Chapters it will be very clear of the out come.

God will restore Israel, In that day and time Jerusalem will become "The seat where Jesus Christ will reign from."

But, until then, the world will be in now experiencing one turmoil after another. There will be moments of peace, but not lasting. Matt. 24th chapter.

God Almighty has a covenant with Israel and with the church. He keeps His word when says to Israel "I will Bless them that Bless you and curse them that curse you." Gen. 12:3

To the church of Jesus Christ He says I will never leave you, nor forsake you. Heb. 13:5

"Only a Resurrected Lord almighty could say and do these things."

The "Word" for the Week The Submission of Husbands

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

A lot of homes these days are pressure cookers ready to explode.

One reason is that husbands fail to live in submission to the law of love. For the most part, husbands expect their wives to bow to their desires. After all, a man's home is his castle. Isn't a husband the king of his household? Well, not exactly.

The Bible does say, "the husband is the head of the wife," and that "wives ought to be [submissive] to their husbands in everything" (Ephesians 5:23 & 24). But the Bible also says, "Husbands, love your wives, just as also Christ loved the church and gave Himself up for her" (Ephesians 5:25).

Yes, if you are a husband, you must love your wife to the extent that you are ready and willing to give up your life for her. But that's a very tall order, you say. I agree. But do you choose to stand aloof from this law of love?

Then you are saying something quite dramatic about yourself and your relationship with God. You see, I John 4:7 & 8 says, "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is from God; everyone who loves is born of God and knows God. The one who does not love does not know God, for God is love."

This is the crux of the matter. Too many husbands do not know God. They are not born again of God's Spirit, the Spirit of love. So, their homes and marriages lack love.

Now if your marriage is plagued with a lack of love, you'd better consider your need to really know God. It is only as He fills you with His Spirit that you will be able to submit to the law of love. Only then will you love your wife as God expects.

Aimee Garcia

Checking in with Aimee Garcia

By John Crook
© Zap2it

If the Friday-night WB Network sitcom "Greetings From Tucson" doesn't get picked up for a second season, actress Aimee Garcia can always find a job with Cirque du Soleil.

Each Friday on The WB sitcom, the energetic Garcia pulls off a dazzling high-wire act as Maria Tiant, a teenager whose sole purpose in life seems to be making her young brother's life a living hell. Walking a fine line between cruelty and comedy, Garcia uses her acute instincts to keep the laughter coming.

"If you look at the lines themselves, they're pretty harsh," Garcia agrees. "But it's endearing that Maria is so totally committed to her world view, even if that world view consists of cheerleading and fashion. Passion is always interesting to watch, and Maria believes with all her heart that her entire social world will collapse if her high-school friends see her talking with her brother."

Growing up in Chicago, Garcia didn't have Hispanic characters such as Maria and her family to watch on TV, but she didn't care much at the time.

"I grew up among non-Latinos and didn't feel discriminated against at all," she explains. "What it did do - seeing characters like (WASP-y) Kelly on '90210' - was to make me want to be more like that."

"I definitely suppressed my Hispanic heritage during junior high school. My blond, blue-eyed boyfriend and I would talk on the phone for hours, then my mom would pick up the phone and say in Spanish, 'Dinner is ready,' and I'd be so embarrassed."

"In college, it became exotic to be a Latina: 'Ooh, I'm bilingual.' I asked my mom to speak to me only in Spanish and begged to go to Mexico!"

Hometown: Chicago.

Family ties: Garcia is an only child. Her Mexican mother is an orthodontist; her Puerto Rican father is an architect.

Early start: "I was totally fascinated by 'Annie' when I was 2, so my godmother bought me my first ballet shoes. I was taking ballet classes by the time I was 3."

Education: Honed acting skills at Chicago's prestigious Young People's Company; degrees in journalism and economics from Northwestern University.

TV credits: "An American Family," "Angel," "Resurrection Blvd.," "The Agency," "MDs," "ER."

Hobbies: An avid traveler, Garcia tries to visit a different country each year to study its culture. She also enjoys skiing, hiking and reading.

Doctor withstands tough elements to survive cancer

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

One of life's few absolutes is that there is no good time and place to get cancer. But to get it while stranded at the South Pole, where you are the only doctor on the continent and there is no medicine, and when you can't leave for months, has to be the worst.

Such was the predicament Dr. Jerri Nielsen found herself in four years ago. Her story is told in the CBS movie "Ice Bound: A Woman's Survival at the South Pole" Sunday, April 20.

Nielsen chronicled her adventure and fellow scientists' resourcefulness in a best-selling book. She now is a motivational speaker living in Florida.

Susan Sarandon portrays Nielsen as a brave woman prepared to die, but determined to survive because her death could hurt so many others.

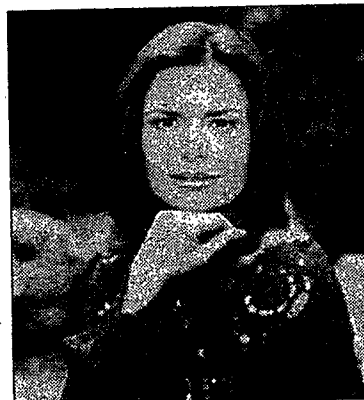

"I saw my death as abandoning them when they needed me," Nielsen says. "I also feared not being able to help someone. My biggest fear at the Pole was that someone would get so sick and I couldn't save them. It wasn't because I was dying. There are so many worse things than death."

Nielsen cites betrayal and humiliation as fates worse than death, but what she coped with at the bottom of the world certainly seemed bleak.

In "Ice Bound," Nielsen discovers a lump on her breast, charts the tumor's growth, then informs the other scientists. Cynthia Mace plays Claire, who rigs a satellite hookup so a mainland doctor can diagnose and advise Nielsen. Aidan Devine plays Big John, Nielsen's friend at the Pole.

Brave pilots risk a plane crash by air-dropping chemo, the only hope until it warms a bit and Nielsen can board a plane. Sarandon conveys a woman running from an unraveling life, yet finding her strength in the wilderness.

Nielsen says that's exactly what happened to her. "We have been given the ability to accept death," she says. "It's important to see that. People who get into situations that end up on TV are not different from anyone else. They simply end up on TV. ... We all have the same strengths."

Roma Downey

After 213 episodes, CBS's "Touched by an Angel" concludes Saturday and Sunday, April 26 and 27, and star Roma Downey talks about post-angelic life. "My daughter is in school in Utah (where the series is shot), and I don't want to

Roma Downey puts final touch on her 'Angel'-ic CBS series

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

In series television, everyone's time must eventually end - even an angel's.

After nine seasons, the CBS drama "Touched by an Angel" concludes with a two-part finale that starts Saturday, April 26, and ends Sunday, April 27 (allowing the show to finish in the CBS slot it held for many years). The last episode borrows its title, "I Will Walk With You," from the series' theme song, and starts pretty much where the perennially poignant program began in 1994: with angel Monica (Roma Downey) on a deserted road, awaiting whatever heavenly mission might come her way.

Her last assignment - as far as the show is concerned, anyway - may help her earn a promotion to angel supervisor, the job in which Tess (Della Reese) has overseen Monica's work for nearly a decade. Monica travels to a California town robbed of virtually all hope and joy by an accident that took the life of nearly every local child. An itinerant handyman (guest star Scott Bairstow, "Wolf Lake") is identified as someone who may have caused the tragedy; he is placed on trial, convicted of murder and sentenced to die. Monica then has to decide whether to make a personal sacrifice to help him.

Co-stars John Dye and Valerie Bertinelli also get their last "Touched by an Angel" hurrahs in the tale, as do past guest stars Patty Duke, Marion Ross ("Happy Days") and country-music star Randy Travis. Also featured are Patrick Duffy ("Dallas"), David Ogden Stiers ("M*A*S*H") and William Mapother ("In the Bedroom").

"We're delighted that we get to finish in our old time slot," Downey says. "It's like coming full-circle. When the last day of filming arrived, we all felt a bit stunned. We knew it was coming, and we were grateful that we did, because so many actors read about their shows' cancellations while lying on a beach during what they think is a hiatus.

"CBS gave us due warning," Downey adds, "which allowed us the opportunity to have closure for these much-loved characters, and the opportunity to have the same kind of closure off-screen. That's very important when you're talking about nine years of your life. It's a pretty huge thing to have to let go of. I think we're all ready to move on, but it's still sad to say goodbye."

Indeed, the last scene between Downey and Reese was saved for the very end of filming. Downey explains, "Tess tells Monica that she's so grateful for the time they've had together, and so grateful to God for allowing her to feel what a mother must feel for a child. As for any separation between character and actor, there was very little in those final moments. We just held each other, and I don't think there was a dry eye among the crew members, either."

Though "Touched by an Angel" became a hit for CBS, especially once it moved into the Sunday period that long had been occupied by "Murder, She Wrote," it had a rocky birth. Created by John Masius ("Providence"), the show underwent a network-ordered transformation when the original pilot was scrapped and the series was placed in the hands of executive producer Martha Williamson.

"This is such an unpredictable business," Downey says, "one never can know what it is that will ultimately make a show a hit. On our show, it was more than one thing, and the sum of the parts was bigger than all of us.

Roma Downey plays angel Monica for the last time - for now, at least - as the CBS drama "Touched by an Angel" wraps up its nine-season run with a two-part finale that begins Saturday.

That's why it will survive. We'll be in reruns forever." In fact, the show already is, with Hallmark Channel running repeats Sundays through Thursdays this month.

Marly critics initially scoffed at "Touched by an Angel," the sort of pure-hearted, unapologetically sentimental program that had been all but extinct since "Highway to Heaven" left the air in the late '80s. Later family-friendly shows such as "7th Heaven" and "Everwood" undoubtedly owe a lot to Downey's series, which she believes "changed the face of television. We offered hope and inspiration, and the message clearly got out there. When we were at our peak in the middle years of the show, we were always in the top 10 (ratings-wise)."

'Standing' actress tests readers' memories

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Is the wife on CBS' "Still Standing" the same actress who was in "Twister"? What else has she done? -Jeff Pope in Michigan.

A I've heard from many readers trying to place Jami Gertz, 37, who first attracted notice as yuppie brat Muffy Pepperman in the 1982-83 CBS high-school sitcom "Square Pegs."

Since then, the Chicago native has racked up an extensive list of TV and film credits in both comedy and drama. In addition to the movie blockbuster "Twister," Gertz has been featured in movies including "The Lost Boys," "Sixteen Candles," "Renegades," "Jersey Girl," "Less Than Zero" and "Listen to Me."

On TV, she starred with Marsha Mason and Margaret Colin in the ill-fated 1991-92 sitcom "Sibs" and had recurring roles on "The Facts of Life," "ER" and "Ally McBeal." Among her many TV movie credits, she co-starred with Katharine Hepburn in the 1994 romantic comedy "This Can't Be Love" and played the title role in 2002's "Gilda Radner: It's Always Something."

Q I heard that the bailiff on "Judge Mathis" had died. What happened? -Sandle Walden, Columbus, Ohio.

A Brendan Anthony Moran, 37, died in December 2002, in a fall from a balcony. Investigators ruled the death a suicide, although Moran's family has disputed that ruling.

Q Where is Megan Mullally from? -J.K. Walker, Las Vegas.

A The Emmy winner from "Will & Grace" hails from Oklahoma City. Mullally got her early training at Northwestern University, then moved to Los Angeles without much professional luck. Her career took off in the mid-'90s via Broadway revivals of the musicals "Grease" and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

A terrific singer, Mullally recently released her first solo CD, "Big as a Berry," on the Fynsworth Alley label.

Likable O'Connell steps into spotlight on 'Crossing Jordan'

By John Crook

Jordan Cavanaugh may not be "crossing Woody" much longer.

Midway through its first season, NBC's Monday-night forensic drama "Crossing Jordan" got a bracing and very welcome jolt of humor when Jerry O'Connell joined the cast in the recurring role of Boston police Detective Woody Hoyt, a good-natured Midwesterner whose easy charm made him a perfect foil for Jill Hennessy's intense, testy Jordan.

Woody strikes off on his own, however, in the Monday, April 21, episode of "Crossing Jordan," which finds O'Connell's character in Los Angeles following the trail of a murder that occurred in his Wisconsin hometown.

Once on the West Coast, Woody inadvertently stumbles into an operation run by Sunset Division, an elite branch of the Los Angeles Police Department run by Detective Vicellous Owens (Leon, "The Temptations"), a no-nonsense type who quickly sizes up Woody as an unwelcome hick. In the best odd-couple tradition, however, the two gradually bond during the course of working together, a partnership that will continue if this back-door pilot is picked up as a weekly series.

And O'Connell is plenty jazzed about that prospect, because "Sunset Division," as the proposed series is tentatively called, reminds him of an old TV favorite.

"Growing up in the mid-'80s, I was a very large 'Miami Vice' fan, and this script came in and I thought it rang very true of that sort of show," he says. "I was on board pretty much immediately."

"It was a lot of fun, a lot of Hugo Boss, a lot of Prada. I myself am not a clotheshorse. I couldn't care less what I'm wearing. I'm a T-shirt-and-jeans-kind of guy. But I do dress up pretty good."

Yet if O'Connell invokes "Miami Vice" in summing up the show's stylish threads and story-driving power beat, there's more than a dash of another cult favorite as well: "Due South," another fish-out-of-water police comedy-drama that aired on CBS from 1994 to 1996.

Just as Canadian Constable Benton Fraser (Paul Gross) was unfailingly polite in tracking down bad guys in that series, so Woody relies on low-key Midwestern charm and persuasion - such as getting an uncooperative witness to crack by threatening to call the young man's mother and tell on him.

"I'd love for something to happen with this show, because I get to play a real adult and dress up and carry a badge, which I hope will sort of seal that transition to adult roles," says O'Connell, 29. "You have to do that in this business."

That's especially true when an actor makes such a striking impression at an early age, as the preteen O'Connell did as one of the young protagonists of "Stand by Me," Rob Reiner's nostalgic 1986 adaptation of a Stephen King story. O'Connell was a student at New York's Clinton School for Artists & Writers when a casting director spotted him.

Among the highlights of making the movie, O'Connell's first, was working with a more experienced young actor named River Phoenix.

"River was a great guy - very nice to me, especially, because I had had no experience up until that point," O'Connell recalls of his former co-star, who died of an accidental drug overdose in 1993. "He was about five years older than me, but just a great guy. What happened to him was a real shame, a loss not only to his family but to everybody because he really was such a great actor."

Once the movie was in the can, O'Connell says he pretty much stopped thinking about it, especially since his father, an advertising executive, was trying to manage his son's expectations.

"My father even had said to me, 'Don't expect this movie to come out, because these things usually don't,'" O'Connell laughs. "But it turned out to be a huge deal. Now it's considered something of a classic."

Enough of a classic that, years later, O'Connell found himself watching it in a class at New York University, where he was a student. At his mother's insistence, he had put his acting career on the back burner until he finished college, but that NYU screening gave such a jolt to his popularity that he became eager to return to acting.

He auditioned for and won the role of Bailey Slinger in a new Fox series called "Party of Five," but before that show began filming, the network asked him to take over the lead on its expensive new sci-fi series "Sliders," which had lost its leading man. The show became a cult hit.

"The fans are very loyal," he says. "I'd have them all over to my house for dinner if I could because they really have kept me working."

During his school years, O'Connell also underwent a striking physical transformation from pudgy kid actor to handsome leading man. His current beefcake-ready status he largely credits to an unlikely project: "Kangaroo Jack," the recent broad movie comedy that trumped rough reviews to become a box-office hit.

"I think I grew 16 inches after 'Stand by Me,'" O'Connell says. "It just sort of happened. But then on 'Kangaroo Jack,' I swear, (producer) Jerry Bruckheimer sends you to boot camp. You exercise all the time. You get a personal trainer. Your diet is changed. He calls up every day to see how you are doing. So that really whipped me into shape."

Into shape for those pricey designer duds on "Sunset Division," he hopes, because it sounds like a sweetheart deal to him.

"What happens when you do TV like this is a lot of who you really are comes across, and it's great for me to play a character who is fun to be around, doesn't take anything too seriously until the need arises for him to be serious and then he comes through," O'Connell says. "Getting paid to play myself? Yeah, I think I could handle that."

However bad it's been, there's always been Hope

Tributes usually brim with hollow superlatives. An exception is NBC's loving honor to Bob Hope, "100 Years of Hope & Humor," Sunday, April 20.

Host Jane Pauley, an NBC mainstay, is practically an intern compared to Hope. He started with NBC in 1934, on the radio, and his first NBC television special was on Easter - 53 years ago.

Hope, who turns 100 on May 29, plans to watch the tribute, says daughter Linda Hope. "He is looking forward to his 100th birthday," she adds. "I like to think that the good he put out there in the airwaves is supporting and nurturing him in his old age."

The good is boundless, as over 10 million troops in peacetime and four wars - WWII, the Korean War, Vietnam and the Persian Gulf War - would attest. Longtime Hope producer Gary Smith tracks down veterans whose morale was lifted because of Hope. He recalls how, in 1965, a young wife met Hope at an airport and pressed a picture frame into his hands because he was visiting the base where her husband, Spc. Bryan O'Connell, was stationed. The frame contained photos of their newborn twins. Smith found the twins, now parents themselves, for this special.

The footage of Hope working hard to cheer troops is nothing short of magnificent. The baby-faced soldiers, many of them marching to their deaths, had their last light-hearted moments because of Hope. From May 1941 until Christmas 1990, he made more than 700 trips to entertain GIs.

The tribute also features interviews with celebrities, including Woody Allen, who says, "I've been doing him my whole life as a performer. If you look close, you will see I copy him. Of course, I don't have his talent, but I copied him just the same."

Jane Russell says Hope was the best kisser she ever worked with.

And Jay Leno says, "He was probably the greatest American entertainer of the 20th century."

That's because he could do it all. Hope started as a dancer in vaudeville. His stage card, now in the Library of Congress, read: "Bob Hope, danceamedian." He sang and danced well enough to make a go of it on Broadway, debuting in a 1924 Fatty Arbuckle revue. From there, it was on to radio.

Along the way, he made 59 movies, wrote 12 books and managed to squeeze in enough time on the greens to make seven holes-in-one. He was friends with every president since Franklin Roosevelt, and, as Smith says, "Here is a man who could walk into the White House and say, 'You may not be here in two years, but I will.'"

Of all these astounding numbers, there is one that shines, particularly in Hollywood: He has been married to Dolores Reade for 69 years. Linda, one of four children, shares a sweet memory of her dad. As she and her brother ate breakfast and got ready for school, she says, "He would do a soft-shoe routine and shuffle off to Paramount."

Linda Hope recalls initially not understanding the constant interruptions on the street. "I remember as a kid people used to come up to him all the time," she says. "And I would think, 'This is my dad, and it's our time alone.'"

But it wasn't long before she realized why she had to share. "A guy would come and say, 'Bob, I saw you in 1942 in the South Pacific, and it was the last show my buddy saw, and we had such laughs about it,'" she says. "It is very powerful stuff."

Bob Hope answered every letter soldiers and family wrote to him, and one thank-you note came from a corporal whose men walked miles for Hope's show, yet missed it. Hope found out, caught up with them and did his act for them in the middle of nowhere. NBC's tribute to the consummate entertainer, "100 Years of Hope & Humor," premieres Sunday.

The Los Angeles Lakers have a lock in the title for the taking.

So says L. Elliott, who has been an NBA playoff analyst for action of action, ESPN, ABC, week.

"The Eastern Conference is a shoot," Elliott put every body in the playoffs, then go ahead.

What does the Eastern Conference have in store for the two years? Philadelphia is playing, says, "and every night, tough to be plicated bounding the turnovers, offense, all year they've been there."

Another Detroit seed at the playoffs, Elliott says.

They're winning the team. They have the best guys that are having a course, is

NBA playoffs a 'crap shoot,' says ESPN's Elliott

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The Los Angeles Lakers are no longer a lock in the West and the East is there for the taking.

So says ESPN NBA expert Sean Elliott, who provides analysis when the NBA playoffs shift into its first full week of action starting Sunday, April 20. ESPN, ABC and TNT air coverage all week.

"The East is pretty much a crap shoot," Elliott says. "I mean, you can just put everybody's names in a hat, maybe put Philadelphia's name in twice, and then go ahead and reach in there."

What does Elliott like about the 76ers, the Eastern Conference champions of two years ago? "Right now, Philadelphia is playing great basketball," he says, "and if they remember how to win every night, they're going to be awfully tough to beat. ... Their transition game is predicated on their defense. They're rebounding the basketball. They're playing passing lanes. They're forcing turnovers, and they're turning that into offense, and that's what they did the year they went to the Finals."

Another team to watch in the East is the Detroit Pistons, the conference's top seed at press time. "I like their team," Elliott says. "They're not glamorous but they're winning and they play like a team. They truly are a team. They don't have the big-name stars, but they've got guys that can play. Chauncey Billups is having a great year. Ben Wallace, of course, is always solid and provides a great defensive presence. Cliff Robinson plays defense and can score the basketball. Richard Hamilton is having a terrific year. ... And then you're talking about guys coming off the bench like Corliss Williamson and (Jon) Barry. They have a nice, well-rounded squad, and on top of that they're a well-coached team. So they could very well come out of the East."

Also not to be ignored is the defending East champs, the New Jersey Nets. "After the (All-Star) break, they were down. But with (Dikembe) Mutombo coming back, if those guys can remember the way they swarmed and played defense going into the break, you add Mutombo back there, he doesn't necessarily have to be a big part of the offensive scheme because he's not known for his offense anyway. With him blocking shots, rebounding and initiating the break, New Jersey has a shot of getting out of the East."

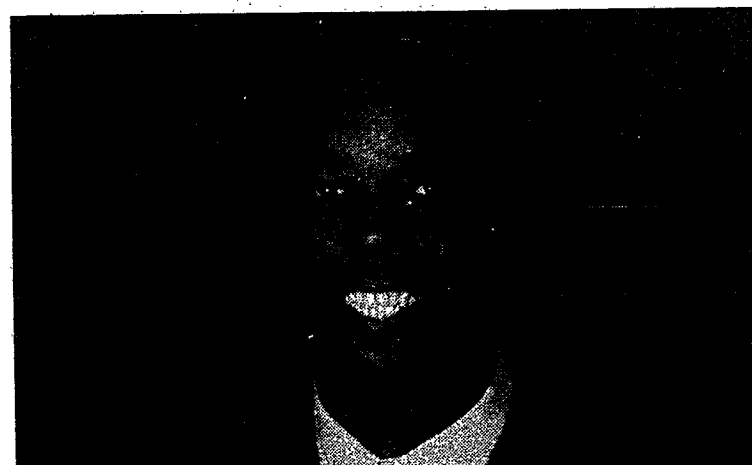

Over in the West, says Elliott, "clearly, you have to look at the Lakers. Even though they've played sporadically this year, they're coming off three consecutive championships, and they basically have the same two guys (Shaquille O'Neal and Kobe Bryant) that led them to that championship, and they have pretty much the same complementary players. So you have to consider them."

Elliott looks for the San Antonio Spurs, for whom he played forward for 11 seasons, to challenge the Lakers in the West. "The Spurs are playing great basketball as well. They won the season series already with the Lakers and the Kings."

But the Spurs may have to do it with star forward Tim Duncan slowed by an ankle injury. "Hopefully, it won't be a problem for him," Elliott says. "He's the type who will go out there when he's 70-80 percent and he'll still go out there and play. But it's more than him. It's Stephen Jackson. Tony Parker is having a huge year. Manu Ginobili is playing at a real high level. Malik Rose has been fantastic in the absence of David Robinson. If Dave gets back and he's healthy and he's there to provide more depth during the playoff run, they could make a huge run and win it."

Then there is the Sacramento Kings, who are known for being intimidated by the Lakers come playoff time. Elliott feels this reputation is unfair. "I just thought that last year they were too cavalier about things. Coming down the stretch when it's a tight game, it's not time to throw behind-the-back passes on the break. It's time to take care of the basketball. It's time to knock down your free throws. It's time to close people out. And I think that was the big problem with them last year. They didn't have anybody to blame but themselves. I mean, the referees didn't make them miss free throws down the stretch. They had looks at the bucket down the stretch where they didn't knock shots and free throws down. They made bad turnovers. So they've got to clean stuff like that up at the end of ballgames. They really just need to focus on closing teams out."

"St. Louis Cardinals at Atlanta Braves" Tuesday, April 22 (TBS, 7:30 p.m. ET): The St. Louis Cardinals and Atlanta Braves, two contenders in the National League, meet in Atlanta to begin a three-game series. The Cards possess four of the game's top position players in Scott Rolen, Albert Pujols, Edgar Renteria and J.D. Drew. The Braves, meanwhile, have built a consistent winner on pitching, yet baseball economics forced them to rework three-fifths of their starting rotation in the off-season.

"NFL Draft" Saturday, April 26 (ESPN, 12 p.m. ET): Years of preparation - for the players and the teams - come to fruition today during the first three rounds of the NFL Draft.

Barring a trade, USC quarterback Carson Palmer, whose potential is likened to that of a young Drew Bledsoe or Troy Aikman, is the projected top pick by the Cincinnati Bengals. The Lions, Texans, Bears and Cowboys, respectively, round out the top five selectors. ESPN's coverage continues tomorrow with rounds 4 through 7.

"Boxing" Saturday, April 26 (HBO, 9:30 p.m. ET): Two titles are on the line tonight in a twin bill of boxing action from Mashantucket, Conn. The opener pits Kazakhstan native and IBF cruiserweight champion Vassily Jirov (31-0, 27 KOs) against former world champ James Toney (65-4-2, 42 KOs). Jirov is a 1996 Olympic gold medalist. Then, up and coming Antonio Tarver (20-1, 17 KOs) meets veteran Montell Griffin (44-3, 29 KOs) for the vacant IBF light heavyweight crown.

James: Brother of Jesus

This new documentary examines the facts, speculations and controversy surrounding a limestone box that came into the possession of an Israeli collector. It is a burial box, or ossuary, meant to hold bones removed from a tomb. The inscription on the side translates to "James, son of Joseph, brother of Jesus," which has led scholars to debate whether this is a physical link to the historic Jesus, or if Jesus even had a brother.

Movie: Shane

This 1953 classic Western depicts the changing American frontier of the late 1800s, when cattle ranchers and homesteaders competed for land: Alan Ladd stars as Shane, a former gun-fighter who befriends a homesteader's family and defends them against a ruthless cattle baron. Filmed in Wyoming, the movie won an Oscar for best color cinematography. Jean Arthur, Van Heflin and Walter Jack Palance (aka Jack Palance) also star.

The Everglades: Life in the Sea of Grass

The Florida wetland, designated as a World Heritage site, is home to a vast web of life, from alligators and hawks at the top of the food chain all the way down to countless insects and micro-organisms. The entire Everglades region is more than three feet above sea level, and subtle changes in elevation create profound differences in habitat and wildlife.

Movie: Scooby-Doo.

If you've never seen the original cartoon from the late 1960s and '70s, then this 2002 feature based on it likely will be unintelligible. For fans, it offers a computer-animated Scooby-Doo interacting with human versions of Scooby Gang mystery-solvers Fred (Freddie Prinze Jr.), Daphne (Sarah Michelle Gellar), Velma (Linda Cardellini) and Shaggy (Matthew Lillard).

TV Trivia

Bob Hope ("100 Years of Hope and Humor") sang "Thanks for the Memory," which became his signature tune, in a 1938 film.

Janine Turner ("Secret Agent Mom") put her pretty face and slim figure to work at age 15, when she left home to model for Wilhelmina.

Susan Sarandon ("Ice Bound: A Woman's Survival at the South Pole") was a cheerleader at New Jersey's Edison High School.

Laura Innes ("ER") spent considerable time in hospitals, needing three tracheotomies as a toddler after swallowing an acorn shell.

Jessica Biel ("7th Heaven") felt her "good girl" image hampered her career growth, so she shed her clothes for a men's magazine.

Sunday Best Bets

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Malcolm in the Middle

Scenes from earlier stories are compiled in the new episode "Clip Show 2." The flashbacks are cued by Lois and Hal's (Jane Kaczmarek, Bryan Cranston) preparation of their will, prompted by the impending arrival of the new baby. They try to decide who should become the guardians of their children, should something unexpected happen.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Ice Bound: A Woman's Survival at the South Pole

Oscar winner Susan Sarandon ("Dead Man Walking") makes a rare TV appearance in a new drama movie based on the true story of Dr. Jerri Nielsen, who had to administer cancer treatments to herself while isolated at a South Pole research station. Medical supplies to keep her alive were air-dropped until a daring and precisely timed rescue mission by the Air National Guard returned Nielsen to the United States.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

The savage murder of a university president puts Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) on the trails of several suspects in the new episode "Anti-Thesis." A would-be department chairman (guest star Reg E. Cathey, "Oz") is on the list, as is an enigmatic professor (guest star Olivia d'Abo, "The Wonder Years"). A possible romance involving two — or more — suspects eventually leads to another killing.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

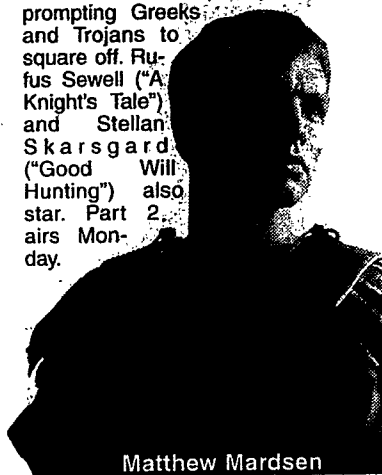

Boomtown

Police detective Stevens (Donnie Wahlberg) becomes a suspect in the death of his infant daughter in the new episode "Lost Child." An Internal Affairs officer (guest star Dave Brisbin) relies on fellow cop Turcotte (Jason Gedrick) for incriminating information. Hechler (Gary Basaraba) races the clock to find the abducted baby of an assaulted woman.

9 p.m. on USA

Movie: Helen of Troy

The true saga of the woman beautiful enough to drive men to battle fuels this new miniseries. Sienna Guillory ("The Time Machine") portrays Helen, whose arranged marriage couldn't keep warrior Paris (Matthew Marsden, "Black Hawk Down") away from her — prompting Greeks and Trojans to square off. Rufus Sewell ("A Knight's Tale") and Stellan Skarsgard ("Good Will Hunting") also star. Part 2 airs Monday.

All My Children

Erica told Jack she wants them to remain friends, then was devastated when he gave her his final goodbye. Michael played the sympathy card to get Kendall to attempt to seduce Boyd in order to get the formula. However, Boyd saw through her ploy and was disgusted with Kendall. Michael then ordered Lena to use Bianca to obtain the formula, and wasn't happy at the possibility that Lena has real feelings for Bianca. Edmund and Mia made love for the first time. Henry stood up to his mother when she voiced her disapproval of him spending time on his music, and Maggie. Coming: Chris tries to prevent a disaster.

As the World Turns

Barbara escaped from her captors and made a shocking entrance at Craig and Rosanna's wedding, demanding Craig's arrest. Back at home, Barbara discovered that her sketches were missing. Jessica got Marshall on the stand in an empty courtroom and he confessed to raping her. At the trial, Ben was arrested when he refused to testify, the judge declared a mistrial, and Marshall was free, but alone. Bonnie swore revenge against Marshall and retrieved Jessica's gun. Alison discovered that Regina is her cellmates' target. Coming: Barbara suspects Craig of theft.

Bold and Beautiful
Bridget convinced Ridge's children to give Brooke a chance. However, when Brooke asked Bridget to be her maid of honor, she was shocked when Bridget refused. Massimo recognized Jackie and wondered why she gave his ring to Nick. When Massimo tried to buy her off, Jackie ripped up his check, insisting that Nick is not his son. Nick came to Bridget's rescue when she had a flat tire, and she wound up drinking too much with him and his buddies. Ridge was relieved to learn that nothing had happened between Nick and Bridget, which made Bridget angry. Amber planned to fill in for April, who had a bad cold. Coming: Ridge finds it hard to hide his feelings.

Days of Our Lives

Palmer was arrested, but Bo wasn't happy to learn that Vin was released on bail. Belle and Shawn appeared ready to reconcile. Meanwhile, when Belle wanted a part of her life separate from Shawn, Kate offered her an internship at Basic Black, which she accepted much to John's delight. John was stunned to learn that Tony is the owner of Echelon. Marlena got a bug detector from Roman. Rex snuck into the tunnels beneath Salem and planted his mysterious device. Finding Denise, a sweet girl, with Lucas, Sami shot a look at Lucas that was pure jealousy. Coming: Vin intends to get even with Bo.

General Hospital

Zander realized that Emily is a drug addict and destroyed her stash. Cameron turned the tables on Edward and Scott, forcing Edward to drop the charges against Alexis. Sonny deduced that Ric is Faith's silent partner. Carly began to grow suspicious about the events of the night she slept with Ric. After learning that Nikolas had forbidden Luke from seeing Laura, even when she asked for him, Luke walked away when Nikolas collapsed in pain. Cameron revealed to Zander that Pete committed suicide, prompting Zander to lash out at his father. Tracy and her son Dillon returned home. Coming: Ric takes desperate measures.

Guiding Light

A drugged up Alan teetered on a bridge until Gus rescued him. Away from Alexandra's medication, Alan started to regain his hold on reality. Michelle believed that Danny was going on a business trip, unaware that he was headed to a mafia meeting in N.Y. Marina was shocked to see her handkerchief in Mrs. Hendon's pocket. A recovered Harley decided to investigate the abusive customer who assaulted one of Eden's girls. Cassie and Edmund forged a tentative peace. Coming: Phillip is back at Spaulding - for now.

One Life to Live

When Mitch tried to embrace Jessica, she pushed him away, and the ensuing accident with a bottle of rust remover may have blinded Mitch. Dorian and Blair discovered the Badhra diamond in Mitch's secret box, rumored to be the largest diamond in the world but also cursed. Lindsay was brought to the hospital after falling downstairs and revealed to Bo that Mitch gave her the gun she used to kill Sam. Dorian later visited Lindsay and told her to keep following Dorian's orders. Carlotta made it clear to Natalie that she'll never approve of her and Cristian's relationship. Coming: Marcie proves to be a real friend.

Passions

Chad was pained by Whitney's decision to stay at home for six months before deciding whether she'll move to Los Angeles. Mrs. Wallace tried convincing a disbelieving Luis that Beth is going to kill Sheridan, then switched gears and sent Charlie to find Beth and Luis together. After Ethan reassured Gwen of his love, the couple rushed to help Theresa, who had begun to scream. Kay watched with rage as Miguel and Charity reconnected and plotted to get Miguel back. Tabitha concocted a potion made to spread evil throughout Harmony and gave some in a gift to Sheridan. Coming: Will Beth's ally become her enemy?

Benard speaks about bipolar disorder

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

There are times when Sonny Corinthos (Maurice Benard, "General Hospital") sinks into a deep depression and has a difficult time getting through the day.

It is a problem with which Benard is quite familiar. The actor was diagnosed at age 22 with bipolar disorder (also known as manic depression). There was a point when his family thought he had a brain tumor and might die. They had no idea what was wrong.

"I started doing things that just weren't right," Benard says. "I didn't sleep and I remember running around the house, yelling at my mother. I was being somewhat violent, so the next morning, they took me to the hospital. I was in a county hospital for four days and they had to tie me down to the bed. It wasn't fun. They sent me to a bigger hospital where all of the other patients were worse off than me, and it was hard for me to be there."

"I ran away from there and my friends picked me up. The drugs were off, reality hit and I was depressed for six or seven months. I thought my life was over. I couldn't get out of bed. Then I met my psychiatrist, who recognized what was going on with me, and he put me on lithium."

In addition to taking lithium, Benard boxes, runs and tries to get as much rest as possible. "You need to keep your body and mind as peaceful as possible, and exercise and rest help you do that," Benard says.

To bring awareness to bipolar disorder, Benard is a spokesperson for the National Mental Health Association. It is estimated that more than 2.5 million Americans have bipolar disorder, and 80 percent of those individuals go undiagnosed or misdiagnosed.

"If your behavior is extreme on one end or the other, you need to get help," Benard says. "I did things like jumping into the pool with all my clothes on, and that's the kind of thing you want to look at. There's no shame in it, and you can manage it with the drugs and a healthy lifestyle. I haven't had an episode in years, and my life is so good now."

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
The Bernie Mac Show

At Wanda's (Kellita Smith) suggestion, Bernie (Bernie Mac) hires a housekeeper (guest star Theresa Saldaña, "The Commish") in the new episode "Maid Man." He warms up to her quickly — and so do the children (Camille Winbush, Jeremy Suarez, Dee Davis), making him fear they're letting her assume too many of their responsibilities. Bernie then tells the new hire to act as if the kids were her own, thinking she'll be tougher on them.

8 p.m. on 38-WB
Angel

With Jasmine's (guest star Gina Torres) spell over them broken, Angel (David Boreanaz) and the gang go on the run from her in the new episode "Sacrifice." They head into the sewer system, where safety proves fleeting when a monster linked to Jasmine takes Wesley (Alexis Denisof) captive. Connor (Vincent Kartheiser), who continues to be influenced by Jasmine, seeks the missing Cordelia (Charisma Carpenter).

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
The West Wing

Matthew Perry moonlights from "Friends" to guest star in the new episode "Evidence of Things Not Seen." He plays a potential employee interviewed by Josh (Bradley Whitford) while the White House is in lockdown mode, since someone has fired several shots at the site. Inside, an energetic card game lets many staff members work off the tension. The president (Martin Sheen) tries to get an American spy plane returned.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Movie: Into the Arms of Strangers: Stories of the Kindertransport

This emotional, Oscar-winning 2000 documentary portrait profiles young Jewish refugees who were taken in by British families prior to World War II. Many of the children never would see their families again, as revealed in the narration delivered by Judi Dench. Deborah Oppenheimer ("The Drew Carey Show") is one of the film's producers.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN
The Twilight Zone

A celebrated magician (Xander Berkeley, "24") shares his most famous trick with an eager rival (Shawn Hatosy) in the new episode "The Pharaoh's Curse," directed by actor Bob Balaban ("Gosford Park"). Of course, there's much more to the illusion than is apparent. The hour's second story, "The Collection," stars singer Jessica Simpson as a baby sitter who's in danger of disappearing like her predecessors.

8 p.m. on HALL
Movie: Old Man

William Faulkner's tale of a convict dispatched to save a pregnant woman from the flooded banks of the Mississippi River stars Arliss Howard ("To Wong Foo, Thanks for Everything! Julie Newmar") and Jeanne Tripplehorn ("Basic Instinct"). Horton Foote's ("To Kill a Mockingbird") 1997 TV movie adaptation follows the unlikely companions as they find new meaning in life while struggling for survival.

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Wanda at Large

Wanda's (Wanda Sykes) report on an allegedly corrupt city official (guest star Robert DoQui, "RoboCop") gets an unexpected slant after he dies in the new episode "Death of a Councilman." Originally critical of the man, the piece praises him instead when it's re-edited and shown. A furious Wanda gets the opportunity to set her record straight when she's asked to speak at his wake.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC
Law & Order

The murder of a female executive seems to be an open-and-shut case in the new episode "Seer," with Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) tracking the crime to a young man living close to the crime scene. He seems to know a lot about the killing, but he maintains the details came to him psychically, setting up a big challenge for McCoy and Southern (Sam Waterston, Elisabeth Rohm) in court.

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

Several stand-up comedy veterans, including Bob Goldthwait and Gilbert Gottfried, guest star as — what else? — comedians in the new episode "Last Laugh." The death of another comedian leads Grissom and Catherine (William Petersen, Marg Helgenberger) to connect the case to a similar probe being conducted by Warrick (Gary Dourdan). This show's creator and executive producer, Anthony E. Zuiker, has a cameo as a heckler.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

Music superstar Madonna guest stars as a potential roommate for Karen (Megan Mullally) in the new episode "Dolls and Dolls." The women get along fine until Karen realizes just how much they have in common, especially where men are concerned. Grace and Jack fear Will is becoming addicted to painkillers when he starts taking them for a twisted ankle.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Frontline

Just as a biological virus can disable a living being, so it is for computers with technological viruses known by names such as Code Red and Moonlight Maze. Mass attacks that have been launched in cyberspace — threatening everything from rail travel to water supplies — are examined in the new episode "Cyber War!," which also considers measures to counter such assaults. The U.S. government's concerns and actions in such instances are discussed.

8 p.m. and DSC

Origins: Battle for the Planet

Dinosaurs and cavemen often come to mind when the earliest days of mankind are mentioned, but another species may have existed on Earth even earlier. This new special focuses on recently discovered fossils indicating the presence of wormlike creatures known as Pikaia, which may have inhabited the planet 300 million years before dinosaurs.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Hack

In Part 1 of the drama series' two-part season finale, "True Lies," Olshansky (David Morse) prepares to stand trial while covering for Marcellus (Andre Braugher) — who may be on the take. The stakes go up after an informant (guest star Sophina Brown) is murdered and Marcellus becomes the prime suspect. Faith (guest star Bebe Neuwirth) resents Olshansky's treatment of the district attorney (guest star Wilbur Edwin Henry).

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Reba (Reba McEntire) is left shaken enough by a life-threatening incident to make sure her affairs are in order in the new episode "The Will." As she's preparing the document, she's stunned to discover that Cheyenne and Van (JoAnna Garcia, Steve Howey) have asked Brock and Barbara Jean (Christopher Rich, Melissa Peterman) — instead of Reba — to assume guardianship of baby Elizabeth in the event of something unforeseen.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB

Grounded for Life

Sean and Claudia (Donal Logue, Megyn Price) try to teach Lily (Lynsey Bartilson), financial responsibility by making her get a job in "Welcome to the Working Week." Eddie (Kevin Fitzgerald Corrigan) schemes to even the score after a newspaper reviewer gives The Red Boot a negative write-up.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

Warrick (Gary Dourdan) takes a personal interest in a drive-by shooting in "Random Acts of Violence." The killing occurred in the neighborhood where Warrick used to live, and the victim was the daughter of someone he idolized. Nick (George Eads) has a hard time finding witnesses to the office murder of an Internet firm's chief.

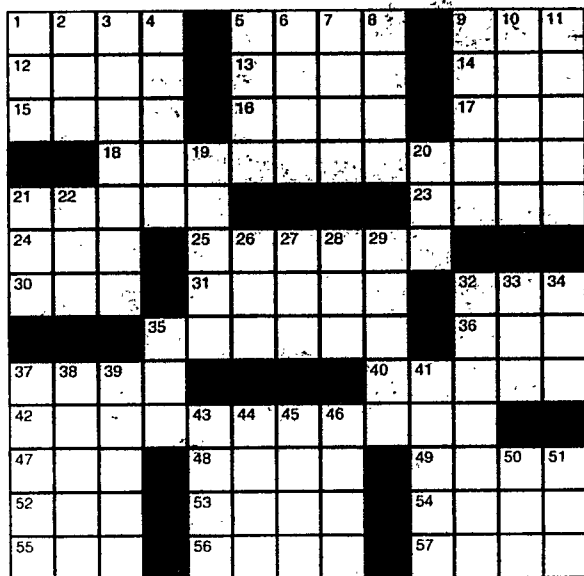

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Fred Savage ("The Wonder Years") breaks from type in a big way by playing an alleged rapist in the new episode "Futility." After Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) succeed in getting an indictment against him, he decides to act as his own defense attorney. Cabot (Stephanie March) is surprised, and more than a bit unnerved, by how effective he is in court as she tries to prosecute him.

Saturday Best Bets

8 p.m. on 4-CBS The District

Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) faces one of the biggest controversies of his career when a PCP-affected prisoner dies in police custody in the new episode "Criminally Insane." Those who want Mannion ousted are boosted by a lawsuit filed by the dead man's widow, but the mayor (Joseph C. Phillips) needs Mannion's help in finding his missing son. Jaclyn Smith reprises her recurring guest role as Vanessa Cavanaugh.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC Hunter

Hunter and McCall (Fred Dryer, Stephanie Kramer) have trouble gathering evidence against a gas station owner who doesn't play fair in the new episode "Untouchable." None of the people he has victimized will oppose him. Eventually, his real identity is discovered, putting Hunter on the trail of the ex-hit man responsible for the murder of the police captain who mentored Hunter.

8:30 p.m. on HBO Boxing

Two titles are on the line tonight in a twin bill of boxing action from Mashantucket, Conn. The opener pits Kazakhstan native and IBF cruiserweight champion Vassiliy Jirov (31-0, 27 KOs) against former world champ James Toney (65-4-2, 42 KOs). Jirov is a 1996 Olympic gold medalist. Then, up and coming Antonio Tarver (20-1, 17 KOs) meets veteran Montell Griffin (44-3, 29 KOs) for the vacant IBF light heavyweight crown.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS The Agency

The CIA is implicated in the murders of several Saudi Royal family members in the new episode "War, Inc." To clear the agency's name, Gage (Beau Bridges) launches a probe that leads him to a former investment banking tycoon (guest star David Cassidy, half brother of series co-producer Shaun Cassidy) with direct ties to the 9/11 tragedy. Ex-CIA operatives also are involved; more killings are on the horizon.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

Determining the identities of two people killed during a romantic encounter in a park proves difficult for the police detectives in "Prodigy." That's because of the way the woman's body was mutilated, which erases the most obvious means of identification. The subsequent investigation targets several of the victim's associates in animal-rights matters as suspects.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"STANDING IN THE SHADOWS OF MOTOWN": Recently awarded a Grammy for its soundtrack album, this involving documentary is a "must" for anyone with even the slightest love of modern music. The film focuses on the session musicians - collectively known as the Funk Brothers - gathered by Motown Records founder Berry Gordy to back up legendary artists such as Diana Ross and the Supremes, the Temptations, the Four Tops and Marvin Gaye. *** (PG, AS, P)

"THE BELIEVER": Inspired by a true story, this intense drama casts Ryan Gosling ("Murder by Numbers") as a Yeshiva student who becomes the leader of a neo-Nazi group. Torn by the contradictions in his life, he withdraws from his girlfriend (Summer Phoenix) while committing crimes against his own people. Billy Zane ("Titanic") and Theresa Russell also star in director and co-writer Henry Bean's film, honored at the 2001 Sundance Festival, then shown on Showtime. *** (R, AS, P, V)

"THE CRIME OF PADRE AMARO": Oscar-nominated this year for the award for best foreign language film, Mexican director Carlos Carrera's drama stars Gael Garcia Bernal as a young priest who battles vice and temptation. While trying to clean up the parish, he has been assigned to, he meets a devoutly religious young woman (Ana Claudia Talancón) for whom he develops an overwhelming passion. He then must decide which path to follow. *** (R, AS, P)

"MAD ABOUT YOU: THE COMPLETE SECOND SEASON": For those who may have feared that only the first year of the Paul Reiser-Helen Hunt comedy series would be released on DVD, here's good news. Among the highlights: Cynthia Harris in her first appearance as Paul Buchman's (Reiser) mother; singer Cyndi Lauper as Ira's (John Pankow) estranged wife, and model Christie Brinkley and tennis star Andre Agassi in a story about a virtual-reality device.

"REAL WOMEN HAVE CURVES": The odyssey of a Mexican-American teenager (played by America Ferrera) who has big dreams is traced in director Patricia Cardoso's affecting drama. The young woman's hopes for a college education leap forward when she's given a full scholarship by Columbia University, but her parents want her to stay in the family's sewing business. Lupe Ontiveros ("Greetings From Tucson") and comedian George Lopez co-star. *** (PG-13, AS, P)

"RIP IT OFF": Three women - played by Nastassja Kinski, Jennifer Esposito and Alyson Hannigan ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer") - decide to one-up their criminal boyfriends in this melodrama. They scheme to get their hands on the $2 million that their men are plotting to steal from a casino. Alexis Denisof ("Angel"), as do Steve Harris ("The Practice"), singer Sophie B. Hawkins and "In the Bedroom" director Todd Field. ** (R, AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"TREASURE PLANET" (April 29): The animated Disney update of "Treasure Island" puts young Jim Hawkins (voice of Joseph Gordon-Levitt) aboard a spaceship with a cyborg named John Silver (voice of Brian Murray). (PG, V)

"TWO WEEKS NOTICE" (April 29): A womanizing real-estate tycoon (Hugh Grant) hires an attorney (Sandra Bullock) who is determined to resist his charms. (PG-13, AS, P)

"THE EMPEROR'S CLUB" (May 6): A teacher (Kevin Kline) questions his choices, personally and professionally, when he is challenged by a student (Emile Hirsch). (PG-13)

"ANALYZE THAT" (May 13): A mobster (Robert De Niro) is released from prison into the custody of his therapist (Billy Crystal) in the sequel to the comedy "Analyze This." (R)

"ADAPTATION" (May 20): Nicolas Cage has dual roles as a screenwriter plagued by a creative block and also by his twin brother, a fellow writer who enjoys great success. (R)

"STAR TREK: NEMESIS" (May 20): Capt. Jean-Luc Picard (Patrick Stewart) faces a sinister clone, among other perils, in the latest "Next Generation" mission. (PG-13)

OLDIES BUT GOODIES

If your local video store is fresh out of new releases, give these a look:

"AMERICAN HISTORY X" (1998): After his release from prison, a former skinhead (Edward Norton) tries to stop his brother (Edward Furlong) from following the same path. ***

"LADY SINGS THE BLUES" (1972): Diana Ross makes a stunning acting debut as Billie Holiday, the blues-music legend who was tormented by her drug addiction. ***

"POLTERGEIST" (1982): Evil spirits target a contemporary family, especially its youngest member (Heather O'Rourke). Craig T. Nelson and JoBeth Williams also star. ***

'7th Heaven' rains down love on newlyweds

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Outside a small church in Southern California's San Fernando Valley, a pounding rain has flooded the street, with water splashing around the wheels of parked cars and spilling over the curb onto sidewalks and already sodden lawns.

Inside the church, where rain can still be heard faintly on the roof, the windows are covered to simulate evening and the pews are festooned with snowy tulle, greenery and sprays of white roses.

It may be wild and stormy outside, but The WB Network's "7th Heaven" is in the mood to celebrate.

It's the long-anticipated wedding day of Lucy Camden (Beverley Mitchell), the second daughter of the Rev. Eric Camden (Stephen Collins) and his wife, Annie (Catherine Hicks), to police officer Kevin Kinkirk (George Stults).

Joining an already sizable crowd of crew and extras are all the cast members, along with such guest stars as Phyllis Diller, Deborah Raffin, Ed Begley Jr. and Bo Derek.

Also on hand are former series regulars Barry Watson and Jessica Biel as eldest son and daughter Matt and Mary.

The wedding episode, the show's 150th installment (it just received a two-year renewal), airing Monday, April 21, marks the first appearance of Watson on the show since he was diagnosed last May with Hodgkin's disease, a form of lymphatic cancer, for which he has completed a successful round of chemotherapy treatment. He also is scheduled to appear in the show's two-part season finale.

Looking healthy, with his formerly shaggy hair having grown back into a stylish short cut, Watson - who has been working on the show as a writer - has other things than acting in mind. Sitting in a balcony, he looks down at the church's center aisle where he spies Derek, who is playing the mother of Kevin and his brother, Ben (Geoff Stults).

"I'm excited," Watson says, "but I'm too scared to go up and say hi to her. Back in the day, forget Farrah Fawcett, I was, like, Bo Derek! Oh man, and she looks so good. I kind of want to ask her on a date."

Besides that, it's just odd to see his TV little sister all grown up. "When I started on the show, Jessie and Bev were 12 and 13. I was 21, I think. I'll be 29 in April. Weird. I've seen all these kids just grow up, and I feel like I'm getting younger!"

"Look, there's Bo Derek again!"

Taking a break eating a peanut-butter sandwich and an apple, Biel, who has been attending Tufts University, is happy to be making another guest appearance. "Bev actually called me and said, 'I'm getting married. You have to come for this episode. Please come.' I was like, 'Oh, yeah, of course.'"

The story line has Mary arriving in her flight attendant's uniform, which has saved Biel from the possible horror of a bridesmaid's dress. "I wouldn't mind," she says. "This shirt's a bit itchy, so I wouldn't have minded wearing some sort of tacky dress."

As for the bride, she's plopped on an apple crate in an upstairs room decked out for bridal use with a three-way mirror, lights and shelves of bridal books.

While Mitchell chose the dress - a mass of white satin and crinolines, with lace sleeves - she's getting a bit tired of wearing it for hours and hours of filming. "I have to wear this for two days," she says. "I think I wouldn't mind if I hadn't been sick for so many days. I have so many infections, in my lungs and my nose and my ears. I'm on quite a few antibiotics."

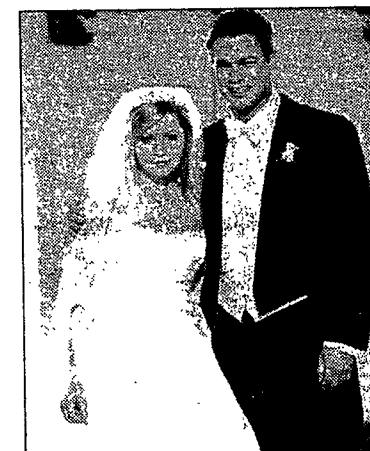

Asked if she has advice for brides picking dresses, Mitchell says, "Don't get a big one. It gets dirty and dust on it. It's hard to carry, and you can't sit.

an easy day himself. "Emotionally," Collins says, "it's not only Eric performing the wedding, but he's coming back to the church after about six months away (after his heart attack). It feels like a big responsibility.

Beverley Mitchell and George Stults play bride and groom Lucy Camden and Kevin Kinkirk in the 150th episode of "7th Heaven," airing Monday on The WB Network.
